

TWO YOUNGSTERS SAFE
AFTER NIGHT ON MOUNT

HOPE (CP) — Two Hope teenagers, Richard Webster, 16, and Arlene Keim, 14, who spent Sunday night in rain on the side of 4,000-foot Mount Ogilvie, walked out safely today.

They had been the object of an intensive search by civilians and the RCAF.

A witness said the couple "felt fine" this morning. "It got late and they thought it would be more sensible to spend the night on the mountain rather than attempt to get down," she said.

UN Rejects
Red Demand
On S. Korea

PANMUNJOM, Korea (Reuters) — The United Nations command today rejected a Communist demand that UN forces in South Korea be withdrawn.

The demand was made Sunday night by Communist delegates to the Korean Armistice Commission.

Gen. Kang Sun Ho of North Korea said responsibility for the unification of Korea rests with the UN because Chinese forces already are withdrawing in the north.

Kidnapped Car Racer
Still Held by Rebels

HAVANA, Cuba — Cuban rebels who kidnapped world's champion auto racer Juan Manuel Fangio from under the nose of his federal bodyguard Sunday night, added confusion to violence today.

Shortly after 2 p.m., official starting time for Cuba's government-sponsored grand prix, the track announcer announced dramatically over the loud-speaker system:

"Fangio has been released." Telephone calls to Havana radio stations and to the United Press also announced that Fangio had been released.

A few minutes later another telephone call to the UP, also traced to rebel sources, said that Fangio had not yet been released but would be at 4 p.m.

A rebel attempt to kidnap a second race driver was reported to have been made against Britain's ace, Stirling Moss.

Hotel employees were reported to have thwarted the attempt. Moss and his wife, the former Kathy Molson of Montreal, locked themselves in their hotel room and refused to answer telephone calls.

Appeal to Keep Children Away
From School Denied Doukhobors

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada today denied a Doukhobor couple's attempt to appeal a judgment of the British Columbia Court of Appeal in connection with their son's commitment to the New Denver, B.C., school.

Anne and Bill Perepolkin of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect applied for leave to appeal a decision of the B.C. Appeal Court that lower courts examining commitment of their son Bill, Jr., 9, under section 13 of the B.C. Protection of Children's Act.

Their son's commitment was quashed by the B.C. Appeal Court which referred the case back to the B.C. Supreme Court to see if the commitment could be enforced under the section covering unfitness of parents to keep their child.

The Perepolkins sought to prevent this re-examination of the case on the ground that the section is outside the legislative powers of the province and interferes with their religious freedom.

The Supreme Court here denied leave to appeal because the commitment order was quashed and because the B.C. courts have not examined the case in the light of section 13.

To a suggestion the commitment interferes with religious freedom, Mr. Justice Charles Duff said: "The law is not heard the appeal, said compulsory school could be refused by parents simply because they do not like the curriculum."

"If so, there would be chaos all over Western Canada," said Mr. Justice Locke, former British Columbia lawyer.

City Tug, Tow
Ride Out Storm

The Victoria salvage tug Ss. Sudbury this morning was hove to in a whole gale about 400 miles west of Vancouver Island with a crippled freighter in tow.

Her master, Capt. Harley Blagborne, reported by radio telephone at 8 a.m. today that tug and tow were riding out the storm before starting the tow to sheltered waters.

Winds of about 50 miles an hour constitute a whole gale.

ENGINES OUT

The freighter, Ss. Lomalind, wireless for aid Saturday when her engines broke down and she began to drift helplessly.

The tug left at 1:15 p.m. Saturday, reached the freighter, and put a towline aboard late Sunday afternoon. But seas were too high for towing.

The ship will be taken either to Victoria or Vancouver for repairs. She is of Liberian registry, and was inbound for Vancouver to lift a cargo of lumber. Seabor Shipping is agent.

The Sudbury is the tug which made headlines in 1955 with the 3,500-mile tow of the Greek freighter Makedonia.

U.S. Satellite
Radio Sparks
Back to Life

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The high-powered radio transmitter on the U.S. satellite Explorer has inexplicably come to life after apparently dying on Feb. 12.

Dr. Henry L. Richter, Jr., electronics supervisor for the lab, said signals have been picked up at the nearby tracking station in Temple City, in Illinois, Cuba and other places.

Richter said that while scientists lack factual knowledge, they have developed theories for the radio signal's rebirth.

One is that as the satellite orbited the high-powered transmitter was in such a position that it received no heat from the sun and froze. As the Explorer resumed its flight the position of the satellite changed and the sun's heat thawed out the transmitter.

Another theory is that the transmitter became overheated and was temporarily out of commission.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

In quietude we look to Thee, our Father, for Thy blessing at this hour. Sincerely we breathe a prayer of gratitude for Thy bountiful gifts, which our eyes behold, and for those things of which we cannot see. Help us to see more clearly and accept more fully Thy provision for all our needs and Thy help in solving all our problems. May we never be guilty of taking for granted Thy gifts of mercy and forgive our waywardness as we thank Thee for Thy faithfulness; in Jesus' name. Amen.

Frondizi's wing apparently collected votes from many of the strong-arm segments of Argentina's political spectrum. His backers ranged from Communists to labor to Peronists and Fascist splinter parties.

With more than 8,000,000 Argentines voting, unofficial figures early today gave Frondizi 1,434,773 votes, Balbin 892,133.

PERON TO RETURN?

During his campaign Frondizi pledged amnesty for all Peronists. He never specifically included Peron, but his statement raised speculation as to whether Frondizi would let the banished dictator return.

Frondizi said Sunday night the first job of the new Congress would be to enact a general amnesty law covering all parties and including those now in jail for their politics.

From his current refuge in the Dominican Republic, Peron today hailed Frondizi's victory as the result of the support he gave him. Peron said he would consider a return to his homeland, but planned a trip "to rest" first. He did not elaborate.

Atom Warheads
Kept Unarmed
To Avert Blast

LONDON (AP) — Defence Minister Duncan Sandys announced today that the Anglo-American pact setting up rocket bases in Britain provides "that the missiles shall not be launched except by a joint, positive decision of both governments."

Sandys told a gravely attentive House of Commons: "The nuclear warheads will remain in American custody and will be kept in an unarmed condition so that there can be no risk of a nuclear explosion and the weapon is designed in such a way that it would be impossible for it to be launched accidentally."

Cries of "shame" came from the Labor benches when the minister announced the rocket bases will be mainly in East Anglia, Lincolnshire and Yorkshire on the English east coast.

Sandys added: "It would obviously not be in the public interest to disclose the number of missiles, or the number of sites or their precise location."

FOUR IRBM BASES

It has been generally understood that the agreement provides for the establishment first of four bases for intermediate-range ballistic missiles.

Sandys said the rockets will be deployed "in small numbers on dispersed sites, mostly on active or disused Royal Air Force airfields." He went on:

"The United States will supply the missiles and specialized equipment at their expense, and will also pay for the training of British personnel in America."

"Britain will meet the cost of providing and constructing the sites, and supplying certain items of equipment."

MANNED BY RAF

Sandys estimated Britain's share of the bill will be about £10,000,000 ($28,000,000).

The defence minister emphasized that the missiles will be manned and operated by RAF units.

The basic agreement for setting up the rocket bases was taken last March in Bermuda by Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower.

After today's announcement, Opposition members immediately began to bombard Sandys with questions about the agreement and the circumstances under which the missiles would be fired.

One question was whether the decision to use the bases would be political or military.

GOVERNMENTS DECIDE

The defence minister answered: "It will require a joint positive decision of both governments — and I stress governments, not military commanders."

George Brown, the Labor party's chief defence spokesman, asked whether Britain proposed to make her own warheads.

Sandys replied: "We are not planning development of a British warhead for the Thor rocket, the American 1,500-mile intermediate range missile but are concentrating our efforts on developing an all-British rocket of a more advanced type."

PERON TO RETURN?

Ex-Dictator Backed
Argentine President

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Gaunt, bespectacled Arturo Frondizi, a leftwing intellectual, is the new president-elect of Argentina. The support of banished dictator Juan D. Peron apparently was a decisive factor in his landslide victory.

Frondizi ran far ahead of middle-of-the-roader Ricardo Balbin Sunday in Argentina's first free presidential election in more than a decade. Nine other opponents trailed far behind.

Both are lawyers and represent left and right wings of the Radical party — a conservative group despite its name.

Frondizi's wing apparently collected votes from many of the strong-arm segments of Argentina's political spectrum. His backers ranged from Communists to labor to Peronists and Fascist splinter parties.

Sturdy Paid
Eversfield's
Expenses

VANCOUVER (CP) — Accountant Charles Eversfield testified today that he was given a total of some $1,400 between 1955 and 1957 for travel and expenses in connection with the Sommers' bribery-conspiracy case.

He said it all came from Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy. He said some $250 or $300 was given him to meet expenses from Los Angeles to Vancouver late in 1955 when he returned with a trunk full of documents taken earlier in the year from the offices of Pacific Coast Services Limited here.

He said Sturdy gave him perhaps another $400 to meet daily expenses while in Vancouver in 1955 and advanced a total of another $700 in 1957 part of it as a loan.

It was Mr. Eversfield's seizure of documents from Pacific offices where he was employed as bookkeeper between 1951 and 1955 that started an RCMP investigation leading to charges last November against former lands and forest minister Robert Sommers, three other individuals, and four companies.

SEEN BY GIBSON

Eversfield, on the stand for the fifth day in preliminary hearing before Magistrate Oscar Orr, said the documents were seen by Mr. Sturdy in Los Angeles and later gone over in Vancouver by Sturdy and Gordon Gibson, wealthy B.C. lumberman.

Under cross-examination by Alfred Bull, one of eight defence counsel, Eversfield said he did not know whether Mr. Gibson had supplied any of the funds given him by Sturdy.

Mr. Sommers resigned his portfolio in 1956 but still sits as Social Credit member of the legislature for Rossland-Trail.

Charged with him are C. D. Schultz H. W. Gray, John Gray, the C. D. Schultz Co. Ltd., Pacific Coast Services, Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd. and B.C. Forest Products.

The Crown charges that while minister Mr. Sommers accepted some $15,000 in bribes for issuance of certain forest management licences. It alleges a conspiracy for a three-way split of certain funds among Sommers and the Pacific and Schultz companies.

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — The Queen Mother was the centre of a virtual free-for-all tonight as Australians struggled to get a glimpse of her at a civic reception.

Ike's Reply to Harry

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today that "America is strong, America is healthy" and this is "no time to listen to the people who are men of little faith; little spirit."

Eisenhower spoke to a national radio conference on his words appeared aimed directly at former president Harry S. Truman.

At a Democratic money-raising dinner in his honor Saturday night Truman lashed out at the Eisenhower administration.

They flew from Hollywood with a small party of friends after midnight.

The ceremony was performed by district court judge Frank McNamee in a penthouse suite of the Flamingo Hotel.

Miss MacKenzie, born in Winnipeg, wore a gown of pale blue satin with gold flecks, a matching hat and gold slippers. Shuttleworth wore a dark blue business suit.

Maurice Kessler, a Toronto businessman, was best man. Mrs. Axel Slordahl was the bride's attendant.

FIRST FOR GISELE

This was the first marriage for Miss MacKenzie. Shuttleworth's previous marriage ended in divorce in 1950.

The couple said they had been considering marriage a long time but definitely decided only last Saturday night.

They plan to honeymoon here two days. They will live in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Shuttleworth first met her during the Second World War when he was serving with the Royal Canadian Navy. He persuaded her to sing at a naval function. After the war he organized a dance band and signed Miss MacKenzie as his singer.

Miss MacKenzie starred on several CBC programs before coming to the United States. She starred on the television show, Your Hit Parade, before starting her own show last September.

It has been reported that the show's sponsors are dropping it in April because of production clashes between Shuttleworth, the show's producer and the sponsors themselves.

doubt in reporters' minds whether he would favor free and open competition with the publicly-owned CBC's television outlets and shied away from stating a view on the pricing of Canada's natural gas in Canada and the United States.

His greatest elaboration was on the Nobel peace prize issue. Progressive Conservative cabinet ministers claim Prime Minister Diefenbaker was the first to suggest the emergency UN police force for the Middle East, a proposal, they maintain, which Mr. Pearson took for his own and thus earned the 1957 peace prize.

That was not so, Mr. Pearson said. No persons and no country had any monopoly on the suggestion of a UN police force. Former prime minister St. Laurent, however, was almost the first to suggest it before the United Nations back in 1946 or 1947. Mr. Diefenbaker made his proposal in 1956.

TRIED FOR YEARS

For years the Liberal government's UN delegation had tried to get the UN to set up a permanent police force to prevent little wars from growing into big ones. Even when Mr. Diefenbaker made his proposal in the Commons in 1956, Mr. Pearson replied at that time that he already had discussed it with the UN secretary-general, but was told that the Middle East powers and other countries would not support it.

And when he sought to have the proposal discussed at a Commons external affairs committee meeting, none of the Conservative members participated in the discussion and Mr. Diefenbaker did not even appear.

The Canadian delegation at the UN finally got member countries to agree to the temporary police for the Middle East after the Suez flare-up. Mr. Pearson said he wasn't satisfied with the temporary arrangement. As prime minister he would press for a permanent police body in his drive for peace.

Replying to other questions, he declined to state party policy on the matter of introducing private competition with CBC television outlets. He would have to discuss the question with his colleagues in the light of the Fowler commission report which he considered a "pretty impressive document." He would not go further than that.

LIKES COMPETITION

But generally he believed in economic competition. He observed that in connection with the publicly-owned TCA's monopoly on transcontinental air transport, Transport Minister George Hees had qualified a Conservative decision to end TCAs monopoly gradually.

That was "all right" with Mr. Pearson. He did not want competition introduced to the point where, for example, TCA and Canadian Pacific Airlines might both flounder. The measures of competition could best be decided by the air transport board.

A Liberal government, he said, would review the 20-per cent advertising tax on Canadian editions of foreign magazines. The tax was imposed by the former Liberal administration and, so far, retained by the Conservatives as a measure of protection for Canadian magazines facing foreign competition.

Reporters asked whether the Liberals would do anything about the fact Canadians on the west coast appear to be paying more for natural gas than Americans who get the gas from the same Canadian pipeline. That, said Mr. Pearson, was a matter before the Borden energy commission and he didn't want to get into that controversy unless he had to.

But he indicated he would have something to say about the natural gas situation when he starts campaigning in Alberta later this week.

Sturdy for legal advice in 1955 over his plan to go to Los Angeles with the photostats and other documents in a trunk.

NOTHING UNLAWFUL

He said Mr. Sturdy told him there would be no customs violation in this action as the documents would be regarded as personal papers, and further that he did not think Eversfield was doing anything unlawful by keeping quiet as to what the documents contained.

Eversfield said the Vancouver lawyer advised him that if he had taken valuable and essential papers from Pacific offices he could be accused of stealing, but not in the case of the papers which he had actually taken.

"In other words you've got a clean bill of health," said Mr. Bull.

"I got clarification of points that had bothered me," replied Eversfield.

Eversfield said Sturdy got in touch with him in Los Angeles late in 1955 and with the lawyer's help he prepared the first of two statutory declarations in connection with the documents. Sturdy then paid his fare to Vancouver where the documents were put before Gordon Gibson, then Liberal MLA for Lillooet.

Mr. Bull asked the witness whether he knew Mr. Gibson's interest in the case was the same as that of the Western Forest Management Association which thought no private forest management licences should be issued.

Mr. Eversfield replied that he didn't recall that.

Heroic Mother, 3 Tots Victims of Cabin Fire

ENA, Ont. (CP)—Fire roared through a one-storey log cabin at this lonely northwestern Ontario hamlet early Sunday, killing five persons, including a young mother who was injured in a desperate bid to rescue her children.

The victims were: Mrs. Kenneth Linklater, 26; her brother-in-law Alvin Linklater, 25; and her three sons, Roderick, two months, Leslie, 18 months and Albert, three.

Ontario Provincial Police said Mr. and Mrs. Linklater were driven out the front door into the snow when the fire broke out. The woman, her feet bare, ran to the rear of the dwelling, smashed a window and crawled through in an attempt to reach the sleeping children.

She was unsuccessful and emerged with her clothes ablaze.

Police said Mrs. Linklater rolled on the ground to extinguish the flames. Then she wrapped a blanket around herself and ran through the snow, despite badly burned feet, 1 1/2 miles to the home of Warren Clark, her nearest neighbor in Ena.

District temperatures were near freezing Saturday night.

Ena is a whistletown on the Canadian National Railway mainline, 129 miles east of Winnipeg. It has no telephone or telegraph communication system.

Mr. Clark and another man placed the injured woman in their home and returned to the Linklater home. It had been destroyed and Mr. Linklater was lying injured in the snow. They took him to the Clark home.

The men then flagged a CNR freight train and placed the injured persons on board for a six-mile journey to Redoubt.

Harry Pryatie of Ena went ahead to inform police of the fire and arrange for an ambulance to take the young couple 25 miles to Kenora hospital.

Mrs. Linklater died three hours after reaching hospital. Mr. Linklater was reported to day in good condition.

HYDROMETER TESTED

What Is a Hydrometer-Tested Potato?

The Potato Hydrometer is an appliance which indicates the specific gravity, or the percentage of starch or dry matter in potatoes.

Why all this fuss about Hydrometer and the dry matter tests? The answer is that one you know the dry matter content of a particular lot of potatoes you have a guide on how they should be cooked and served.

Experience and continuous testing have proven that potatoes with a 16 to 20% dry matter are ideal for boiling and are a good all-purpose table potato. Potatoes with a 21%, or over, dry matter content are best for baking.

All Local Gem Potatoes under the Hi-Test Label are Hydrometer Tested and are packed according to the test results.

The B.C. Coast Vegetable Co-operative Association employs a full-time chef, in their own kitchen, who is continually testing and trying various cooking methods for local potatoes. This is done so that growers can improve their crops and the consumer can be assured of the finest quality.

ON THE HUSTINGS

Whistlestops, TV Addresses For Leaders

By The Canadian Press

The March 31 election campaign is gathering a full head of steam.

Party leaders will be on the hustings tonight in widely separated parts of the country. The campaign has five weeks to go.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is scheduled to motor from Ottawa to Cornwall, Ont., for an election meeting tonight. He speaks at Hull, Que., Tuesday, before heading east again for one-night stops at Rimouski, Que.; Charlottetown, Sydney, N.S., and Saint John, N.B.

Liberal chieftain Lester B. Pearson is in Vancouver. Thursday he will be in Victoria.

CCF Leader Coldwell is scheduled to address a public meeting tonight at Lemberg, Sask., in Melville riding, held by the Liberals since it was established in 1924 and since 1940 by Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, former minister of agriculture.

Mr. Coldwell will make a national television broadcast from Regina Tuesday night and on Wednesday begin a week-long British Columbia tour at Kimberley.

Solomon Low, Social Credit leader, is scheduled to speak tonight at Edmonton, make a national television broadcast from there Tuesday night and address a public meeting at Viking, Alta., Wednesday evening.

Canon Jull Memorial Fund

A memorial fund in memory of the late Canon O. L. Jull has been instituted at St. Mark's Church, rector's warden Alfred Cullen said Saturday. Canon Jull was rector of St. Mark's before his appointment as hospital chaplain to Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's hospitals.

Subscriptions to the fund should be sent to Mr. Cullen, 3143 Sheilbourne.

OTTAWA (CP)—Five weeks before election day, March 31, Prime Minister Diefenbaker is claiming widespread public support for the return of a majority Progressive Conservative government.

In a speech at Trois-Rivières, Que., Saturday night he said there is an attitude "everywhere apparent" to give his party a majority in the 265-seat Commons. In the last Parliament the Conservatives held a minority 113 seats.

It was his first campaign speech in Quebec—a province where the party apparently must make gains if it is to reach that goal.

Mr. Diefenbaker made his most vigorous reply yet to Liberal Leader Lester B. Pearson's pledge of $400,000,000 in tax cuts. He mentioned Mr. Pearson's name more frequently than in any previous election speech as he reiterated that the former Liberal government was repeatedly warned a year ago of rising unemployment.

"He says the time has come to reduce taxes," Mr. Diefenbaker said. "I ask him why he voted against reducing taxes in March and April of 1957."

IN ONTARIO TODAY

The prime minister returned to the capital Sunday. Tonight he is scheduled to motor to Cornwall, Ont., for another election meeting.

At Trois-Rivières he spoke to almost 4,000 persons at a $2-a-plate testimonial dinner for Solicitor-General Leon Balcer, seeking re-election.

The tables, set for 3,700, were jammed with diners who kept up a clatter of dishes and babble of conversation throughout Mr. Diefenbaker's 45-minute speech. More than 200 persons stood at the rear of the big industrial building in the exhibition grounds. Waiters still were distributing plates of roast turkey when the prime minister finished his speech.

Conservatives held only nine of Quebec's 75 seats in the last Parliament and Mr. Diefenbaker made a plea for increased support.

"It is essential for our party and government that the province of Quebec play a leading role in the Progressive Conservative party," he said while speaking briefly in French.

HAMMERS HARD

Mr. Diefenbaker hammered hard at Mr. Pearson's election platform, which features the promise of big tax cuts to stimulate the economy and ease unemployment.

He said Mr. Pearson has come up with many new ideas after seven months in opposition. Another four or five years in opposition might produce something even better.

The former Liberal government had "hidden" an economic advisory report which a year ago had predicted a fall-off in business expansion, housing and exports.

"I say to Mr. Pearson: What did you do? There must be some reason why you waited until 1958 to unveil the policies you should have implemented last year."

The Conservative government had acted by cutting taxes, reducing interest rates, raising old age pensions, providing $300,000,000 in mortgage funds for winter house-building, stepping up public works programs and extending by two months the period for special winter-time unemployment insurance benefits.

North Korea Won't Return Plane, Crew

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The United Nations demanded today, and the Communists promptly refused, prompt return of the Korean airliner and its 34 passengers and crew hijacked by Communist agents last week.

Two Americans piloted the plane. The 90-minute meeting of the military armistice commission in this town in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea broke up in a wrangle over the competence of the commission to discuss the incident.

'HE LOOKED FINE'

Churchill Swaps Visitor Cigars

ROQUEBRUNE CAP MARTIN (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill smoked a cigar today with the first visitor he has been allowed since he came down with pneumonia and pleurisy a week ago.

Pierre Jean Moatti, the local district governor, and his wife called at the Riviera villa.

"We had a cigar together," Moatti said. "He looked fine." The governor explained that he had given Churchill one of his cigars and Churchill had returned the compliment with one of his own.

The daily medical bulletin noted continued progress by the 83-year-old former prime minister. It said his pleurisy was troubling him less. The bulletin was the first to mention the fact that the pleurisy had been causing any pain to Churchill.

500-Pound Satellite U.S. Army Project

WINTER PARK, Fla. (AP)—The United States Army plans to work progressively up to satellites of 500 pounds or more, says Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, head of the army ballistic missiles agency.

He said Sunday night that another satellite launching attempt will be made by the army "not earlier than tomorrow or later than the 1st of April."

The army placed the first U.S. satellite, Explorer, in orbit from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Jan. 31, using a Jupiter-C rocket as the launching vehicle.

Medaris said the next satellite will be similar to the Explorer but with advanced instrumentation.

"...but my situation is different!"

Of course your situation is different—no two men are in identical circumstances, where money matters are concerned.

When you buy life insurance, it is vitally important to obtain a plan which fits your situation exactly. Simply "buying a policy" can't be expected to provide your family with the kind of tailor-made protection that is available to them.

The plan which is right for you is determined by a number of factors: your scale of living—your plans for your family—your future prospects—these and other details of your business and home finances.

London Life representatives are trained to take all the pertinent facts into account in helping you select your life insurance plan. Moreover, it is their job to assist you to keep your program of protection up to date. We believe that this is one reason why so many London Life policyholders buy again and again from this Company.

THE BIG SURPRISE ABOUT THE CANADIAN FLAG

Politicians tend to shy away from supporting a distinctive flag for Canada. They feel a flag without the Union Jack would enrage conservative Royalists, one without the fleur-de-lis would hurt feelings in Quebec. Yet a recent nation-wide contest that drew 10,000 entries does not bear out the politicians' view. None of the winning entries contained a trace of a Union Jack. And only a handful of the Quebec entries contained a fleur-de-lis. Does this indicate a new type of national thinking? The analysts have an unusual story for you in this week's Star Weekly.

IS "THE POCKET" GREATER THAN "THE ROCKET"?

Maurice says "Yes" and a lot of top hockey men won't argue the point with him. So the Star Weekly got the opinions of such people as Toe Blake and King Clancy. Read what they say about "the Pocket" vs "the Rocket" in this exciting issue of the Star Weekly.

Our Water, Our Fish

NO PART OF THE WORLD IS more concerned than British Columbia with a conference of eighty nations in Geneva this month when the old problem of territorial waters will be reopened.

Our coast is surrounded by waters rich with fish of many sorts. We can control fishing, and conserve the fisheries, only within the area three miles from shore. These are our territorial waters. Over them the writ of the Canadian Queen runs without question. But it runs no further.

Beyond the three-mile limit foreign fishermen can fish as they please, except as provided otherwise by special international treaty. Thus the fish can be conserved in our territorial waters but they can be depleted outside them, with disastrous future effects on our fishing industry.

For many years Canadian fishermen have rightly been dissatisfied with these arrangements.

Their operations have been regulated by the Canadian Government not only within the three-mile limit but twelve miles from shore. This is a perfectly proper regulation, and no one doubts the Government's legal power to enforce it, in the case of Canadians.

Between the three-mile and twelve-mile limit, however, foreign fishermen cannot be regulated and they are exploiting the fisheries rightly belonging to Canada since the fish in these waters, for the most part, breed beside, or close to, our coast. Without Canadian control of these fish, in the breeding season, there can be no conservation and no future for fishermen of any nation.

Two years ago the Canadian Government proposed that the three-mile limit be extended to twelve miles.

Mr. St. Laurent, then Prime Minister, explained that the Government had no intention of driving foreign fishermen beyond the twelve-mile limit. The ancient rights of foreigners in these waters would be protected, he said, just as Canadian fishermen are entitled to fish twelve miles off foreign coasts.

But the Canadian Government argued that, within those areas, all fishermen should be treated alike. Foreigners would be subject to the same regulations applied to Canadians in the interests of conservation. And conservation, of course, is just as important to foreigners as to Canadians because all fishermen depend upon the survival of the fish.

In earlier times such regulations appeared unnecessary or at least not very pressing. Nowadays when fishing is much more intensive, and when modern vessels can fish far from shore, it is evident that there will be sensible regulation or, in the end, ruinous depletion.

The policy of the Canadian Government at Geneva (not a matter of partisan argument) appears entirely reasonable and should appeal to all nations that have fisheries of their own and fishermen dependent upon the world's total supply of fish.

Here, then, is one of those practical issues—soluble by ordinary good sense, even within the present power struggle. If the nations on both sides of that struggle cannot solve a problem as simple and obvious as the protection of their joint resources in the sea they can hardly hope to solve any problem whatever. The outcome of the Geneva conference, therefore, will be awaited as a test not only of intelligence in the practical business of fishing but of the chance to do anything constructive in the current international climate.

Christie Point and Park Issue

THE CONCERN OF CIVIC, MUNICIPAL and semi-public bodies over possible housing development on Christie Point, sometimes called Picnic Point, which thrusts out into Portage Inlet like a long finger, is easily understood.

A subdivision there, it is argued, would create sewage problems. Too far from established sewers, houses on the peninsula would have to depend on septic tanks. Competent officials state that heavy septic tank use would again create a pollution hazard in Portage Inlet and hence in the Gorge.

This is one disturbing factor arising from reports of planned private development on the point. There is another point of public concern. Although the land is privately owned at present it is regarded as a highly desirable park site by many. Were it to be established as a park, the pollution danger would be largely removed.

But there are many obstacles blocking conversion of the area into a park. Apart from the cost of acquiring the land, the question of jurisdiction arises. The region lies within provincial territory.

Logically it might be considered an excellent site for a provincial picnic ground or park. But the provincial department concerned usually develops more remote areas, leaving work on recreation grounds close to densely settled areas to the communities adjacent to them.

The issue which has arisen over Christie Point seems to establish another argument for the creation of a metropolitan parks board whose members would be elected by the people and be responsible to them for the money that was spent.

Such a board, moreover, might be able to resolve the conflicting interests now involved in the parks system of Greater Victoria. It is time some housekeeping was done to tidy up the confusion which exists.

It is reasonable to assume that provincial health authorities will be able to avoid pollution of Portage Inlet and the Gorge, threatened by housing developments suggested for Christie Point. That, however, would take care of only half the problem. Parks use of the territory would still have to be arranged. A metropolitan board might attend to that.

Example in New Zealand

THERE IS LITTLE NEWS IN reports from New Zealand defining the advances made by Maoris there.

The story of integration in that part of the Commonwealth is widely known. The Maoris have shown their abilities and intelligence, have won distinction in professions and enjoyed high public office—points brought home to Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan during his recent visit.

This appears all the more remarkable on the basis of statistics which show that four out of every five Maoris are comparatively unskilled laborers.

The situation in New Zealand, where white people pride themselves on the lack of a "color bar," should commend itself to Canadians.

In this country earnest men and women are working conscientiously toward the establishment of Indians as the complete equals of other citizens. In too many cases, these earnest workers grow discouraged by the slowness of the progress that is being made.

Perhaps they might draw encouragement from the words of Col. C. M. Bennett, a distinguished Maori who heads the welfare division of the Maori Affairs Department. He firmly believes that the status of the Maori will be determined by his own accomplishments. And Col. Bennett is emphatic in his argument that "education is the means by which we can master the skills of the pakeha (white man)."

To which he adds: "A good home stimulates beneficial changes in family life, it develops pride and employment stability in parents, and in the children healthy mental attitudes. For the Maori, these are major obligations in the new world."

The same could be said of the Canadian Indian. The advice should be noted not only by those who are trying to help the native, but by the native himself.

Utopia Calling

CONSIDERED AGAINST THE real winter which other parts of Canada have been experiencing, our own spring-like winter has been almost embarrassingly lovely.

It is one thing to boast to others of your weather, stretching the facts a bit and gilding the lily where necessary. Such patriotic exaggeration is expected—and discounted by the listener. But when the meteorological facts bear out even the wildest-sounding boast it becomes increasingly difficult to convince the relative or friend elsewhere on the continent that one is not lying it on.

In this sense our weather is a liability, for it is reaching a point of perfection where both our climate and our veracity will be held in doubt by the "foreigner."

Only the ex-patriate Pacific Coaster, revelling in rosiety exaggerated memories of what it used to be like out here, will believe us. And he would believe anything, anyway.

MACMILLAN

AFTER YOU

By B. A. TOBIN

May I Bother You for...

IN these days when oratory on the platform, and off it, is so much in the public ear it is interesting to compare the different styles and manners of speakers. This is not an era in which book salesmen make a living by persuading householders to buy. In only 15 volumes, the collected speeches and addresses of the world's most famous orators, although I imagine many a back room, attic or basement trunk holds such tomes—the stilled voices of an earlier day. But despite a general modern lack of interest in the art of oratory as such, there is still a fairly widespread attention to types of speakers and the often narrow restrictions of style and content which they impose on their utterances.

There is, for instance, the formal concept of the chairman. Whether it be a neighborhood meeting or a big civic banquet, his tasks are fairly well defined, and likewise his manner of carrying them out. A man who has been given too often the duty to call on "speaker after speaker" might be excused if he adopted the same style for his work-a-day needs.

Thus Mr. Doakes, a frequent occupant of the chairman's chair at public functions, might easily come out in this fashion at the family dinner table: "Ladies and gentlemen, I echo the sentiments of the committee when I say how pleased I am to see such a large turnout this evening. You all know the purpose of our gathering, and having welcomed you and congratulated you on your good sense in attending, may I waste no more of your valuable time but proceed at once to call upon Mrs. Doakes, my well-known and able wife, to kindly pass the butter."

On the Stump

Or, at this particular time, with candidates so prominent and numerous throughout the country, there must be many a dinner table in many a home that echoes with words such as these:

"My friends, it is a privilege and an honor to be with you this evening, and I can assure you I do not hold them lightly. You know why I am here, and it would not be appropriate at this time to enlarge on the reasons. May I say, however, in the short space of time allotted me, that your presence here is sincerely appreciated and that it is with full confidence in your support and loyal co-operation that without further ado I respectfully solicit your assistance in passing me the butter."

Then, too, in a considerable number of homes where the breadwinner is a radio or TV advertising writer or announcer, there must be nightly appeals such as this:

"Remember, folks, this may be your last chance to take part in this generous offer. Keep in mind the magic word, RETTUB. Are you weak, listless, run-down? Do you need ready cash? Do you want to make your housework a mere interlude in your busy day? Do you desire the pick-up-and-go that only the super power of accurate engineering can provide? Do you want the feeling of accomplishment, of participation, of being part of something greater than yourself, that only generous service can give you? Then here is all you need to do. Just pass me the RETTUB. And remember, RETTUB is just butter passed backwards."

Statistically Speaking

Or, again, as the family gathers at the evening meal, the voice of the economic expert—and where can you escape it these days—may ring out from force of habit: "One of the most pressing problems faced by the dairy industry today is the provision of a ready market. Consumption of the produce of our agricultural population is in this sense a national duty, contributing as it does to a high gross national product and a rising curve of employment. Dairying, as one of our basic industries, is an essential factor in price stabilization and the maintenance of real wages. Without a healthy rural economy we must face problems precipitated by the advent of increasing state control induced by a rising demand for subsidization. Obviously a high consumption rate is the answer. You will readily understand my motives, then, in asking you please to pass me the butter."

The Backbencher

Nor can we forget that parliamentarians undoubtedly are parliamentarians no less at home than when in the public eye:

"I rise on a point of privilege, Mr. Speaker. May I recall to you, and to the honorable ladies and gentlemen opposite, the tabled report of the Cowe Commission on milk, cream, butterfat and by-products as received by this House earlier in this session. In that report, and I would like to draw this particularly to the attention of the honorable members of all parties, there is a specific reference to the health-giving properties of butterfat and the many benefits to be derived from a properly balanced ingestion of this valuable product, and, Mr. Speaker, I hope I am well within my rights, not only as a common citizen of this great country of ours, but equally so as a member—a duly elected member—of this distinguished House, in entering a request, without thought of party advantage or partisan political advancement, for a generous and united response to my appeal—which I herewith humbly enter—that some honorable member of this House should kindly pass me the butter."

And last but not least, of course, there is the case of Joe Doakes, the common man, the man in the street, whose nightly request is so appropriately and succinctly phrased: "Butter please."

'Personal Grief'

As Doctor Anne Steel's next-of-kin I wish to state that I deplore the breach of personal privacy committed by the Victoria Daily Times in spreading my wife's name and photograph across your front page without reference to her parents or myself.

Since our private affairs have been aired in this manner I would like to make the following points clear:

First, Dr. Woodard, as a medical man, would be the first to shrink from this kind of publicity, and in any case he is not visiting my wife as a doctor, but as a private individual, and only in a spiritual capacity.

Second, I cannot state too strongly my admiration and gratitude to all doctors and hospital staff connected with my wife's case, and I know that they, like her relations, shrink from this publicity, or any attempt to capitalize on purely personal grief.

No Point in Retaliation

A world authority on nuclear physics declared recently in Australia that the United States, as a Christian nation professing "In God We Trust" should make good its belief in Christ by "turning the other cheek" if it should be attacked by Russia.

Professor Marcus Oliphant, one of the scientists who worked on the first atomic bomb, said this is the only practical step to take. If the U.S. chose to retaliate by bombing Russia, the game of tit-for-tat would go on until both nations would be destroyed and most of the world with them.

The professor was supported in his contention by Nevil Shute, English author of the startling novel "On The Beach" wherein he predicts the end of human life on this planet after a short atomic war in 1961.

We may agree with Mr. Shute saying "There would be no point in retaliating, because it would lead to the destruction of civilization altogether" but there are we simple enough to suppose that the war-mongers in the United States place any confidence whatever in their much vaunted and inscribed, government motto of "In God We Trust?"

Are they not more rightly conscious of a "sputnik?"

Make Them Tax-Free

A great many people will agree with Mr. Lester Pearson's plan to put young married couples on a par with young ones. New mines get a tax free period for the first three years of their life. If Mr. Pearson's government is elected he proposes to do the same for young married couples setting forth on their joint venture.

Now I would ask whatever new government is elected to consider a very small concession to the aged which would make many old men and women happy in their declining years and more secure too. What I want done is only to make Government Annuities Tax free as they always were until the Second World War.

The maximum Government annuity is $1,200. Today it is equivalent to less than $600 dollars. One can only eke out the barest existence on $1,200 a year today. Only about $300 of the $1,200 is taxable now, but why not restore the former immunity from income tax? It would cost very little but it would be a boon greatly appreciated by the aged who have such a struggle to meet the ever rising cost of living without having the power to earn high or indeed any wages at all.

And the Government might take Canadian Government Bonds at their face value in payment of these annuities. Bonds so proffered will, of course, be withdrawn, so where does the Government lose? Interest will cease.

I commend this suggestion to Mr. Pearson and Mr. Diefenbaker. Very many elderly people will vote for the man who takes up this reasonable suggestion.

JOHN KENNY.

'No, Virginia...'

I note that the B.C. Federation of Labor is asking for a moratorium on debts—an idea first proposed by the notoriously Red line Electrical Workers' Union, which would, of course, like nothing better than to wreck our economic system.

If a moratorium was obtained, who would be the first to suffer? Union workers, of course, because what merchant could afford to give them credit when he could not be sure when his receipts would be cut off and he would go broke.

Let the Government pay! But the Government, i.e. the poor taxpayer, consumer, old-age pensioner, etc., is already groaning under too heavy a load, and in addition is now asked to provide employment to a privileged class, among them the carpenters, reportedly 50 per cent unemployed and yet who are now asking the consumer for an increase of 43 cents per hour. No doubt this, of course, is designed to encourage the consumer to build a house or repair his house and thus relieve unemployment.

To paraphrase, I would like to say, "Consumer, arise! You will lose your insurance and your life savings if the present inflationary policies of labor are not checked." And to the Union members I would like to say, "No, Virginia, there is not any Santa Claus, just consumers, pensioners, and taxpayers."

Spooks

The spook visits and bottle popping incidents at a home in New York state as related in the Times of Feb. 17 seem to be baffling scientific and police investigation. It must be evident that these happenings originate from a source outside of human control and being of a malevolent and mischievous nature can only come from an evil power.

Such experiences as these are not the only ones we hear of in these days. Stories of the flying saucers and visitors from space hovering around us and even making some appearances are no mere dreams and no doubt have encouraged hopes of people from this earth being able to land on some of the planets.

These supernatural beings responsible for the mysterious happenings are Satan and his host of evil angels who we are told in Revelation 12:7-12 broke away in Heaven in rebellion against God, and through all the years of this earth's history have never ceased to deceive mankind.

Now seeing his time is short we are told the evil one is making his last great efforts as a defeated foe. We are no match ourselves for this wily enemy and it is only through the help provided for us that we can stand against the wiles of the Devil. Ephesians 6:11-18.

The Race for the Moon

ALTHOUGH little attention has been paid to it, the United States is now engaged in a race with the Soviet Union at least as important in terms of prestige and propaganda as the race for the first earth satellite. We are in a race to be first to shoot the moon.

President Eisenhower has acknowledged that he and his advisers underestimated the global psychological effect of the Soviet triumph in launching the first satellite. The effect of the appearance of a visible blotch on the face of the old familiar moon, which has peered down on the earth for so many aeons, is likely to be even greater. This is why, in the wake of the Soviet Sputniks, a very high priority was assigned to a U.S. Air Force project for hitting the moon with a staged missile.

The current U.S. Air Force schedule—which represents, it should be understood, more a hope than a certainty—calls for the first moon shot before the end of this year, perhaps by midsummer or even earlier. The vehicle will be a Thor rocket, equipped with a booster to kick its speed up to the necessary escape velocity of around 24,000 miles an hour.

The experts are sure that this fantastic speed can be achieved. They are not so sure that the incredibly complex and sophisticated aiming and guidance system required actually to hit the moon can be perfected so soon.

For consider the problem involved. Earth and moon are separated by more than 215,000 miles, and both bodies are moving at great speeds. Thus shooting the moon might be compared, in the simplest terms, to bringing down a fast-flying goose with a bola from the top of a speeding automobile.

In other words, the first nation to shoot the moon successfully will display to the world a most significant technical proficiency in the vital field of ballistic guidance. Thus in a symbolic sense, the first moon shot will have more real strategic significance than the first satellite launching.

Among the experts, there is some dispute about the purpose of a moon shot.

One theory is that the warhead of the missile should release certain gases on the surface of the moon, which would convey to the scientists important information about atmospheric and other lunar conditions. The gases would, however, be invisible from the earth.

The alternative is to pack the missile warhead with certain dyes which would on impact, color a sufficient area of the moon's surface to be visible from the earth, at least through telescopes.

The dye would have little scientific meaning. But with the lesson of the Sputniks in mind, the advocates of a visible dye are likely to have their way. The main initial object of the race for the moon is psychological. Purely scientific experiments can come later.

Next Try

There is no really solid basis for judging the likely winner of the race for the moon. Ever since the second Sputnik firing the intelligence experts have been waiting anxiously for another shot to drop. The Soviets had been expected to launch further satellites at the rate of one a month—indeed, they had boasted that they would do so.

One theory to explain the long gap since the second Sputnik launching is that the Soviets have purposely held back on satellite launchings, to avoid a sense of anti-climax, and that they are now concentrating all their energies on winning the race to the moon.

There is no doubt that the Soviets can provide the necessary thrust to achieve escape velocity. But there is some belief—probably wishful—that their guidance system is not sufficiently sophisticated for a moon shot.

There is even some evidence, taken seriously by the experts, that some weeks ago the Soviets attempted a moon shot which failed.

At any rate, the race for the moon is on—and this time, at least, the responsible American authorities have acknowledged to themselves that they are in a race. The race for the moon is only a part, of course, of the whole race for space.

Crowded Space

All three services are prepared to launch further satellites this year, so that, as one space specialist put it, "space will soon be jammed with hardware."

Project Fleet Bigger, the Air Force program for a television-equipped reconnaissance satellite is sufficiently advanced so that the first crude spy satellite may be launched this year. There are even serious plans for shots at Mars and Venus to follow the first moon shots.

And the grand prize—true manned space travel—is now considered certain to be won, whether by the Russians or ourselves, in the rather near future. (Copyright 1958 N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.)

The Listening Ear

ONE of my private nightmares is that I cannot remember names or faces, and consequently do the most astonishing things that truly mortify my young. ("Mum, you know that woman you called Mrs. Parsons all the time?") But, mercifully, I had a long ago literature teacher who taught us to be very conscious of the sound and shape of words, and to listen carefully to the patterns and characteristics of everyday speech. (Just for the fun of it. Not from the speech-therapy angle.) That's why I often scribble down snippets of conversation in my diary.

Ruth

"My dear, have you seen the blossom on Burdett? It does my soul good to see it. Quite lifts my spirits."

"Poor Puss. We've taken him down to the vet for his little operation."

"Those, to my mind, are charming bits of Victoriana. They belong a little to the sort of woman who will put her head on one side (with a vague and dreamy smile) and say, 'Listen. A spring-crowned purple finch. Bless his little heart.'" By St. Francis of Assisi, that's a lovely touch!

"Life has rather beaten me to my knees of late," and "Life sure gets you down, doesn't it?" It's the same idea, but when you come to writing, it would be fatal to get them muddled.

"C'est la vie," "Life's like that," and "That's the way the mop flops"—all these are jotted down in my diary with the pious hope that the last will not be with us long.

Under the heading of "Tea Party," I have, "Joan dear, where did you get these delicious little cakes? Well, I really shouldn't, because these days I do have to count the calories." (Oh dear, that means middle age, and firmer girdles, and having to be careful because we don't seem able to lose it again the way we used to!)

"My dear, she believes in sandals and salads and the Higher Things of Life." That came to me from a cheerful middle-brow, but I tucked it in among my treasures because I knew it would be useful one day.

"On another page of my diary, I have 'Is the sun above the yard-arm yet?' followed by a note that I must try this out on someone who loves to talk about 'beverage alcohol'."

"Symbolism, my dear, symbolism." This, according to my notes, belongs to the sort of people who talk seriously about magic casements, perilous seas, and fairy lands forlorn. They're the sort who are apt to refer to "the chaste rites of chamber music." They would never say, "Yeah, she's bin-beatin' her gums all day."

"She's taken the sprouts to the beach." I picked that one up in newspaper circles. Newspaper people apparently produce tads and sprouts. Or so they say. Though I can't see that their children are much different from anybody else's.

"Ruggah and a cold showah every day and we'd have none of this—ah—juvenile delinquency." I was so paralyzed with cold on the day that I heard this that I barely had the will-power to stow it safely in my memory. It's the sort of saying that wouldn't go down well with those who talk seriously about "the motivation of the child."

Fooling apart, though, I love these differences of speech. I can imagine few things worse than a community where we all spoke more or less alike.

The worst of all would be if we spoke like this: "Worthy home membership as an objective calls for development of those qualities that make the individual a worthy member of a family, both contributing to and deriving benefit from that membership."

That kind of stuff makes me sick.

Movies Dwindling

LONDON—The cult of the skyscraper really seems to be getting hold of this city. With the plans for two lofty hotels before the London County Council for approval—both facing Hyde Park and both over 30 stories—there's news of another skyscraper for which the LCC has been asked to give the go-ahead. If approval is forthcoming, it will mean the end of one of London's most famous arenas.

The owners of Empress Hall in Earl's Court want to pull it down and put in its place an office building for 4,000 workers. Apart from exhibitions, boxing and ice shows, Empress Hall has been one of the venues for Canadian hockey players who are over here trying to get the British public interested in the game.

Reayburn

The new office block would be 29 stories and 300 feet high, which would make it just four stories short of what is going to be London's tallest office skyscraper—the nearly completed 331-foot Shell building on the south bank of the Thames.

Current joke about the ability of television to empty cinemas concerns a man who phoned a movie theatre and asked: "What time does your main feature come on?" To which the manager replied: "What time can you get here?"

Convertible Race Won in '58 Ford

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Curtis Turner, a daredevil driver from Roanoke, Va., roared to victory Saturday in a thrilling 160-mile Nascar national championship race for convertibles.

The wealthy lumber-broker-sportsman flashed across the finish line in a 1958 Ford 14 seconds ahead of Lee Petty of Randleman, N.C., who had won the post position with a record qualifying speed of 133.829 miles an hour in his 1957 Oldsmobile.

Turner averaged 98.381 m.p.h. The record for this event is 101.32 m.p.h., set last year by Tim Flock of Atlanta, Ga.

Truman, GOP Swap Blows As Vote-Seeking Starts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. congressional election race, aided by a powerful push from former Democratic president Harry S. Truman and a vigorous Republican reply, moved off in full voice last weekend.

Republicans accused Truman today of conducting a "fear" campaign they said could bring about an economic depression.

Truman's Saturday night broadside against the "economic misrule" he said had produced a Republican recession was assailed by leading Republican senators as a disservice to efforts to slow the business downturn and to lift employment.

Truman also strongly criticized the Republican foreign policies.

Senator Alexander Wiley, Rep., Wis., said this is not a period when "men who have been in high places can afford to ignore their responsibilities."

Citing income and employment statistics, Wiley said the country is not going to the dogs. He added:

"But if the people are going to continue to be told that everything is haywire they are going to get in a mental condition where they will stop spending and then anything could happen. What Harry Truman is doing is creating fear of the worst kind."

A score of other Republicans issued various parts of Truman's speech Saturday night at a $100-a-plate party dinner.

But Senator Mike Mansfield (Dem., Mont.) said he agrees with Truman's statements that the U.S. is "tired of being bamboozled by the Republicans."

Truman said that the results of five years of Republican White House rule could be added up in 5,000,000 or more unemployed, millions more working part time, increasing bankruptcies, neglected school programs, over-crowded colleges and hospitals and highways in need of rebuilding.

Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic candidate twice defeated by President Eisenhower, said five years of Republican rule have been "stained by heavy failure in many areas—the excesses of McCarthyism, the disintegration of our alliances, the loss of confidence in us abroad, the decay in our military position and now the decline in our economic vitality."

A new House of Representatives is to be elected next November. Representation in the House as of Jan. 3 was Democrats, 231; Republicans, 200; vacant, 4.

RAIL APPEAL DATE EXTENDED

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian railways today were given until March 10 to apply for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada against the size of a 3.6 per cent general freight rate increase awarded them in December.

Mr. Justice C. H. Locke granted the extension of time from the previous Feb. 28 deadline, with the consent of the provinces—all except Ontario and Quebec—which opposed the rate increase.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Mild Winter Results In Rich Weeds Crop

The most noticeable and far-reaching effect of the mild winter will probably be seen in the increase of weeds during the coming season.

Even the annual types seem to have survived, and with their seedling progeny already germinating, the crop will be bounteous.

In gardens which have been cultivated for years, the problem will soon resolve itself into a thorough hand weeding of the perennial types and hoeing down of the seedlings regularly as they appear.

It is in the newer gardens, even the ten-year-olds if of any size and situated near weedy roadsides and fields, that the work will take consistent effort all season.

Now that all spring bulbs are well up, weeding among them may be done with a hoe, although the seedlings should really be removed at this time of year. I've seen too many of them taking root again in the moist soil and living to pester me again.

Grass seed, blowing and dropping from roadsides can soon become established plants where they are least wanted. Digging them out with a fork is the only way to deal with them; all this may be added to the new compost heap to be made by the end of spring.

The fewer weeds we allow to flower and seed in our gardens the less we shall have to deal with as time passes. Those which invade annually from outside our boundaries do not give us the same sense of frustration as "home grown" weeds.

Amerks 10 (Ouch) Cougars 5

Mathematical Chances Fade

After Sunday's 10-5 beating in Seattle, Victoria Cougars are left with little more in prospect than the off chance of being able to stymie New Westminster Royals in their drive to overtake Vancouver Canucks and the Western Hockey League Coast Division lead.

Playing the tag-end of another of their four-game-in-five-night schedules, Cougars won only once, and that against New Westminster 4-3 Wednesday.

Friday they lost 4-2 to Vancouver, in Vancouver, and Saturday were edged 3-1 by Seattle Americans in Memorial Arena.

The Sunday loss dropped them to 27 points behind third-place Seattle with only the faintest of mathematical chances of making the final playoff spot.

EGAN EJECTED

Cougars went without the services of playing-coach Pat Egan while Amerks were short defenceman Les Hunt following their stick-swinging duel in the third period of Saturday's game. They each received a match penalty from referee Scotty Morrison.

Guy Fielder had a real field day in Sunday's "contest" to boost his league scoring lead by a fat six points on a goal and five assists. Eight Amerks tied and two others gained helping points.

TWO FOR TOM

Tom McCarthy paced the Victoria attack with two goals while linemate Gordie Wilson scored once along with Eddie Dorohoy and John Yanchuk.

Ray Kinasevich tallied twice for Seattle as did Bill McFarland, who turned the trick in less than 30 seconds of the second period and broke the back of any subsequent Cougar attack.

Seattle singles were scored by Fielder, Val Fonteyne, Bill Davidson, Aggie Kukulowicz, Rudy Filion and Blinky Boyce. Interest was generated in Saturday's game by the fight between Egan and Hunt.

Egan went in on defenceman Bill Davidson, who had been falling on the puck all night and was speared in the eye by Hunt. Referee Scotty Morrison broke up any pending fight, and Hunt clipped Egan twice over the head, to which the Cougar coach replied in kind.

Both players were sent to the showers, but before he left, Hunt added to his crime by pushing at Morrison.

Ice making for the Macdonald Brier has forced re-scheduling of next Friday's game with New Westminster Royals in the Memorial Arena.

Americans Win Canadian Titles

KIMBERLEY, B.C. (CP)—American entries all but eclipsed a larger Canadian field Saturday to take both the men's and women's slalom titles at the Canadian ski championships here.

The men's title went to 19-year-old Rudy Ruana, from Missoula, Mont.

Beverly Anderson, from Bishop's Mammoth Mountain Ski Club, added the women's slalom honors to the women's title she won Friday.

Gerald Gagnon, 20-year-old from Port Arthur, Ont., salvaged some face for Canada by winning the Alpine combined title for the best showing in both downhill and slalom. He dropped to sixth place in the slalom after placing second in the downhill the previous day.

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Jockey Johnny Longden, who admits to 48 years, capped his latest and possibly most remarkable comeback when he won the $50,000 added Washington's Birthday handicap Saturday on an Irish horse, Tail Chief II.

It was Longden's first stakes win since he returned to racing three weeks ago after breaking his right leg at Del Mar last summer.

HOAD DUMPS GONZALES

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Bew Hoad made short work of Pancho Gonzales Sunday in gaining another leg on the trail leading to Gonzales' world professional tennis championship.

The rookie from Australia pumped his margin to 168 with a neat 6-4, 7-5 victory before 2,650 fans.

8 Goals by Ackincklose As Hungarians Swamped

DONALDSON BROTHERS IN EIGHTH STRAIGHT WIN

Gorge Vale Golf Club shotmakers Art and Harry Donaldson made good their eighth consecutive defence of their city open golf buttons Sunday at Colwood Golf Club, beating teammates Bill Wakeham and Mike Kolb, 4 and 3.

The turning point of the match came on the ninth green with the match all square.

Both Wakeham and Kolb blew two-foot putts and the Donaldsons moved ahead to stay.

In junior play, Al McLeod and Ted Bradshaw, in their first button defence, played all-square with Al Manson and Peter Watson of Victoria Golf Club.

Canadian Hungarians of the Victoria and District Football League will be having nightmares after Sunday's league action at Heywood Avenue Park, and most of the bad dreams will be taking the form of Canadian Scottish sharpshooter Bill Ackincklose.

With four goals in each half of the game, Ackincklose led the Scots to a monumental 12-0 win over the league cellar-dwellers who have yet to win their first game of the season.

The win boosted Scots into second place, one point ahead of idle Gorge Hotel and one behind leading Brodies Bakery.

Ernie Eastlake added to the rout with three markers and Tappy Jones added a singleton.

RECORD? Ackincklose's eight goals are the most collected by one man this season and possibly set a record for goals scored by one man in one game in league history.

Already leading the league in goals scored, Ackincklose reached the 47-goal mark on Sunday's spree.

McGavin Cup injured players benefit action took over at Topaz Avenue Park Sunday with Punjab United dropping Esquimalt by a 4-2 count.

Ralph Thorne scored both first-half goals for the winners as they held to a 2-2 tie.

He added a single in the second and Chris Braun gained the insurance marker.

Esquimalt goals were scored by Alex Stewart and George Adams.

On Saturday play, Tillicums advanced into the semifinals of the Province Cup playoffs with a 4-1 win against Heaneys.

The Clubmen will play Victoria Kickers March 9 following the first semifinal match next Saturday between Gorge Hotel and Brodies Bakery.

With the exception of a 15-minute period in the first half, Heaneys proved the equals of Tillicums, and at times even looked like the team that should have won.

This rattled in three goals during Heaneys' slack quarter-hour, and played to hold their lead from then on.

George Wright opened with Maurice Bunyan scored the third before Darryl Burley tied with Heaneys lone marker.

Bunyan equalled Wright's mark with a second goal in the second half.

Wright's goal was his first since he was first in his season against New York and gave Montreal a 2-2 tie. Doug Harvey also scored for the Canadiens.

Camille Henry with his 27th and Dave Creighton were the Rangers scorers.

MONEY FOR INDIANS SPOKANE (AP)—Spokane Indians, of the Pacific Coast League, have reported advance ticket sales of about $40,000.

Victoria Juniors Down Port Angeles Victoria Juniors regained their grip on the Port Angeles-Victoria badminton trophy Saturday at the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club with a 5-2-4 win against a representative team from Port Angeles.

More than 160 players took part in the event which was the opening half of an annual home-and-home tournament.

Annual Victoria Women's Tennis Bowling championships wound up Sunday night at Gibson's Bowladrome with singles, doubles and all-events champions crowned for the 1958 season.

Rolling strongly and consistently, Marge Beaney captured the all-events scratch title with a three of 1,651 on singles of 525, 547 and 579. Handicap crown went to Muriel Lawson at 1,483 with singles of 420, 473 and 419 and a 171 handicap.

With a 56 pin bulge, Marge Beaney handily won the singles championship with 579 (234), while Joan White and Irene Celius took the doubles event with a total 1,010 score.

Complete results were unavailable at press time this morning as 14 rounds were in progress.

THREE MEETINGS LONDON (Reuters)—England will meet the Soviet Union in an international soccer game at London's Wembley Stadium Oct. 22. England and Russia also are scheduled to meet in Moscow May 18 and in a World Cup game in Gothenburg, Sweden, June 8.

Don Clark, United States manager, said: "The Canadians sure have a strong team and I won't be surprised if they turn out to be the champions."

The Americans beamed up their side in readiness for a game Tuesday against the Swedish national team, the world champions, who are coached by Canadian Ed Riegler.

"This will be the real test," Riegler said, "when we'll know where we and the Americans stand."

Canada defeated the Swedish national team 6-3 last week.

Everybody was sizing every one else up. One thing on which the experts and pundits were agreed: Canada looks tough.

Art and Harry Donaldson made good their eighth consecutive defence of their city open golf buttons Sunday at Colwood Golf Club, beating teammates Bill Wakeham and Mike Kolb, 4 and 3.

The turning point of the match came on the ninth green with the match all square.

Both Wakeham and Kolb blew two-foot putts and the Donaldsons moved ahead to stay.

In junior play, Al McLeod and Ted Bradshaw, in their first button defence, played all-square with Al Manson and Peter Watson of Victoria Golf Club.

Canadian Hungarians of the Victoria and District Football League will be having nightmares after Sunday's league action at Heywood Avenue Park, and most of the bad dreams will be taking the form of Canadian Scottish sharpshooter Bill Ackincklose.

With four goals in each half of the game, Ackincklose led the Scots to a monumental 12-0 win over the league cellar-dwellers who have yet to win their first game of the season.

The win boosted Scots into second place, one point ahead of idle Gorge Hotel and one behind leading Brodies Bakery.

Ernie Eastlake added to the rout with three markers and Tappy Jones added a singleton.

RECORD? Ackincklose's eight goals are the most collected by one man this season and possibly set a record for goals scored by one man in one game in league history.

Already leading the league in goals scored, Ackincklose reached the 47-goal mark on Sunday's spree.

McGavin Cup injured players benefit action took over at Topaz Avenue Park Sunday with Punjab United dropping Esquimalt by a 4-2 count.

Ralph Thorne scored both first-half goals for the winners as they held to a 2-2 tie.

He added a single in the second and Chris Braun gained the insurance marker.

Esquimalt goals were scored by Alex Stewart and George Adams.

Bathgate, Lumley Keys to Playoffs

Chicago, Toronto Fall Back

By The Canadian Press
An artistic scoring effort by Andy Bathgate and a solid goaltending job by Harry Lumley may have ended the playoff race in the National Hockey League.

The first of Bathgate's two goals Sunday broke a 2-2 tie and enabled New York Rangers to defeat Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2, after Leafs had defeated Chicago Black Hawks 3-1 Saturday.

Lumley scored his third shut-out of the season Sunday as Boston Bruins beat Chicago 2-0. The results left Boston in fourth place, six points ahead of Toronto which as 13 games left.

The double loss left Chicago in last place two points back of Leafs.

In other games Saturday Detroit Red Wings whipped Bruins 6-1 and Montreal Canadiens tied New York 2-2. Sunday Montreal and Detroit tied 3-3.

JAMES SCORES

George Armstrong and Gerry James gave Toronto a 2-0 lead Sunday against New York in Leafs' desperate bid to close in on fourth place.

But George Red Sullivan and Dave Creighton tied the game, setting the stage for Bathgate's first goal. He circled the net and poked the puck between Toronto goalie Ed Chadwick and the goalpost.

He scored his second goal and 24th of the season after Toronto yankee Chadwick for an extra forward.

Lumley stopped 33 shots as Bruins knocked the Hawks deeper into the league basement. Chicago's Glenn Hall stopped 23.

Bronco Horvath scored his 25th and Vic Stasiuk his 20th for Bruins.

ALL BUT CLINCHED

League-leading scorer Dickie Moore notched his 31st of the season, high in the league, to give Montreal a 3-3 tie with Detroit and move Canadians within one point of their second league title in three years.

Montreal leads the second-place Rangers by 23 points with 11 games to play. New York has 12.

Billy McNeill, Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio scored for Detroit, each time putting Wings in front. It was Howe's 27th goal in a weekend that saw him collect seven points on two goals and five assists.

The moved Wings three points ahead of Boston.

Andre Provost and Claude Provost were the other Montreal goal-scorers.

CHICKEN POX ATTACK SIDELINES TOD SLOAN

TORONTO (CP)—Right winger Tod Sloan came down with chicken pox Sunday, making Toronto Maple Leafs' slim hopes for a National Hockey League playoff spot even slimmer.

Sloan, 30, is the third veteran Leaf to take to the sidelines. Centre Brian Cullen, stricken with influenza, is expected to be out until Tuesday and left winger Dick Duff will be off the ice for two weeks with a groin injury.

Optimists Sweep Minor Soccer Slate

Victoria Optimists can well be proud of their entries in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association today, following their clean sweep in all games played during the weekend schedule.

Optimist teams played in four divisions of the association and came up with four clean-cut victories.

In Division 1 Sunday at Carnarvon Park, Optimists shut out MacNutt's Grocery 4-0 after playing a scoreless first half.

Jamie Costain led the way to the win with two goals while John Youson and Larry Brown tallied with singles.

Saturday, the division VI team drubbed Reynolds Eagles 7-2 while both Evening Optimists and Victoria Optimists of division VII won their games.

Evening Optimists defeated Post Office 7-2 and Victoria downed Hampton Eagles 4-1.

In other Sunday games, division II Eagles swamped Langford Buffaloes 5-1 with Steve Holborn scoring three goals.

Brian Snee and Dave Collett each scored once for the winners and Cliff Kiddoff gained Langford's only score.

In exhibition action, Nanaimo Lions edged Legion PE 91 1-0 at Windsor Park.

Larry Wells scored the lone goal in a game which saw Nanaimo carry most of the play without being able to capitalize on most of their scoring chances.

The win gave Bombers both the league lead and the sudden-death city playoff championship.

Stingy Totems Retain Crown

Victoria High Totems, Esquimalt Dockers and Belmont will be carrying the lower Island banner March 7 and 8 when they travel to Cumberland for the Vancouver Island high school basketball tournament and the right to represent the Island in the B.C. championships in Vancouver.

Totems, following Coach Porky Andrews' instructions to the letter, played "keep away" basketball Saturday night to defeat Dockers 23-16 in the game of the Lower Island playoffs at Esquimalt High School gym.

Holding an 11-4 edge at the quarter and leading 19-8 at the half, Totems only managed four points in the final half, but Esquimalt was unable to get hold of the ball often enough to catch up.

Belmont proved to be the big surprise in the tourney in taking the third representative spot with a 43-39 win against Mount View Hornets.

Playing a tight zone defence, Belmont held all Hornets except Dave Black under control. Black dropped in a total of 18 points for the fifth-place finishers.

John Batcher and Jack Greenwood took the win with 15 points each.

Oak Bay took the fourth spot with a 35-34 win against sixth-place Mount Douglas and North Saanich captured their first win and seventh place with a 37-31 victory over last-place St. Louis College.

For Vikings

Victoria College basketball teams had a rough time of it Saturday night at Victoria High School gym as Vikings dropped a 68-66 decision to Dickinson and Dunn, city senior "B" champs, and Vikettes lost 40-24 to Victoria's B's.

Vikings led the game right down to the final quarter, holding a 32-28 lead at the half and leading 48-47 at three-quarter time.

Experience again told as the Norm Baker-coached Timmen poured on the pressure to edge in front in the final minutes.

Tom English paced the Vikings with 22 points while Paul Simpson was tops for D & D with 18.

Louise Heal led B's to their preliminary win, firing in nine points.

Hungarian Ace to Break Record For Indoor Mile—Delany Says So!

NEW YORK (AP)—Ireland's Athletic Club, which won the 65 feet, 4 1/4 inches, eclipsing his team title, got off a heave of own mark of 64 feet 2 3/4 inches.

By Delany?
Of course not. By Istvan Rozsavolgyi, the Hungarian who has run second to Ron in his two races here since arriving less than two weeks ago.

"Rozsavolgyi definitely can break the record," said the Villanova University student with finality, "and if I were running against him in the intercollegiate special mile this week, both of us possibly could break it."

Delany will be taken up with defence of his 1,000-yard and two-mile titles in the intercollegiate meet where team points count more than individual championships. His Villanova outfit is defending champion.

SPECIAL EVENT
Rozsavolgyi will go in a special mile against Velisa Mugoza of Yugoslavia, plus a couple of Americans, probably George King and Phil Coleman.

Saturday night in the National Amateur Athletic Union's championship, Rozsavolgyi's time of 4:05.5 pushed Delany to a 4:03.7 effort, one-tenth of a second off the indoor record.

The meet produced only one world record. That was in the 35-pound weight throw in which Bob Backus of the New York

CRYPTIC FANS WIN! THREE A WEEK NOW

Okay, cryptic crossword fans, you win! The response to our survey was so overwhelming that we wouldn't dare discontinue the puzzles. By phone calls and mail you have demonstrated that the tough crosswords have really caught on in Victoria.

Comments include: "the best thing in your paper," "give us more of 'em," and even the threat: "if you discontinue them, I'll shoot you."

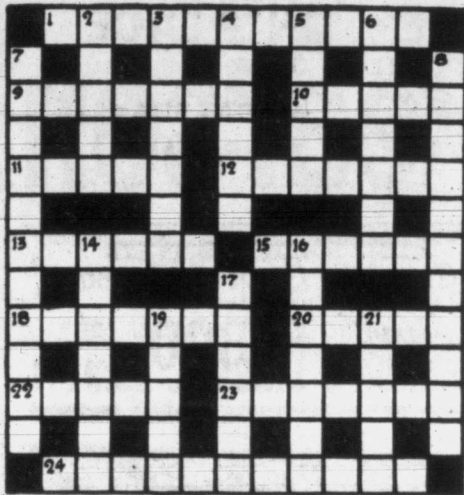

So now we know. Beginning this week there will be three cryptics, appearing Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

The idea is that some people need a couple of days to work on them before getting the answer, so they will appear every second day.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Edward Klopp, age 14, of Williamsport, Penn., for his question:

What Is Redwood?

Redwood is the pride of California. The wood itself is tall, straight, and durable. The tall trees which yield it grow in ancient groves of filtered sunlight. The bark and the wood are red, the soft red of old terra cotta flower pots. The red is dye, present in cells of bark and wood. It makes the tree proof against insects and fungus rot. And the sturdy wood is so slow to burn that it is just about fireproof.

No wonder the rich redwood is in demand for building. It is used to make houses and line walls. It is used to make fine furniture, huge vats and other industrial products. The bark and wood chips are shredded into fibres and pressed into roofing tiles that keep out extreme heat and cold. Imperfect logs are made into fence pickets. None of the big tree is wasted.

A certain number of the forest giants are cut and harvested every year. But this does not mean that the famous Redwood Groves are in any danger. Some 80,000 acres are set aside for State and National Parks. Here we can visit them as they were thousands of years ago. The massive trunks taper to the sky. The lacy branches, high above the ground, are often lost in the blowing mist. These groves are drenched with misty breezes from the Pacific Ocean. They stand in rich bottom land and their ancestors may have stood there for 40,000,000 years. Redwood is forested from commercial farms. In California there are some 400,000 acres of this land along the slopes and in the canyons. Redwood forestry is an art requiring four years of college. The art is to harvest the precious redwood and leave the grove just as it was. Yes, they can do it. Year after year, the grove replaces exactly what was taken. The trees in the parks grow slowly. They are often overcrowded. The massive underground root systems are in competition for moisture. The branches and leaves compete for sunlight in the filtered shade. The redwood tree farmer thins out his trees. In three years, his trees may equal 100 years of growth in the untended grove.

Bulldozer Digs Soft Bed

A big tree is selected when it is about 175 feet tall and about 80 years old. Felling the tree is quite an event. A bulldozer churns up a bed of soft earth in the forest floor. The tree is cut to fall into this long, soft cradle. After the harvest, the tree experts check to see that there are at least four young seed trees to every acre.

The red forest giant bears a cone no bigger than a thimble. Each cone bears about 100 seeds. A pound of redwood seeds is enough to grow 100,000 giant trees.

The big trees grow only in California. The tree farming is carefully supervised and controlled by state laws. The tree farmers themselves stop at nothing to protect their rich cut to fall into this long, soft cradle. After the harvest, the tree experts check to see that there are at least four young seed trees to every acre.

Best of all, teenagers are allowed to compete in logging contests. All this intelligent care goes to make sure that the world's supply of precious redwood will never run out.

Roubakine Adds Luster To Schumann Concerto

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

Over and above the virtuosity of the concert pianist which is all things considered, to be taken for granted, what the listener most requires from a soloist is that the intrinsic meaning and nature of the music be made clear.

When this is done something infinitely more memorable and moving than mere emotional excitement is invoked.

That "something more" was realized Sunday afternoon when Boris Roubakine and the Victoria Symphony Orchestra conducted by Clifford Evens, performed Schumann's profoundly poetic A Minor Concerto.

Warmth of feeling, a sense of lyricism and a fluent touch on the part of the Swiss-Canadian pianist, freshly revealed the many delights with which this music is endowed. The melody sang beneath his fingers. Flowing passages of the final movement swept along with wonderful dextral equality that gave a sparkling clarity to the long phrases.

Splendid continuity—particularly essential in the interpretation of Schumann's music—was effected between soloist and orchestra, the performance of the latter having a fine panoramic sweep about it.

In summary, Roubakine proved a highly poetic, artist who, with the orchestra, and under the skilled hands of assistant conductor Evens, gave a sensitive and most intelligent performance.

This was a program bulging with melodic pleasures and an audience that filled the Royal Theatre to within a few seats of capacity apparently enjoyed it to the hilt.

There was a rousing "William Tell" overture, a poignant and haunting "Pavane for a Dead Infanta" (Ravel), a Strauss waltz, and a brilliant, exciting performance of the "Tannhauser Overture" as a conclusion.

But aside from the concerto, the highlight for this reviewer, was the Bizet "L'Arlesienne Suite" No. 1. The best single word for this Evens-inspired Victoria Symphony performance is "spectacular."

The fiery and splendidly colorful orchestration of the Prelude and Farandole was displayed with a smartness and verve that quite took the breath away, while the adagio movement was so beautifully expressed that an instinctive reaction was won from the audience.

The concert will be repeated tonight at 8.30.

University of B.C. development fund contributions have reached 79 per cent of the provincial objective of $7,500,000.

General chairman Paul E. Cooper said: "We now have almost $6,000,000 in cash and pledges."

Unreported donations unofficially bring the total well over $6,000,000.

Govt. Purchase Of Peninsula Asked by Group

Craigflower peninsula on Portage Inlet should either be bought or expropriated by the provincial government for park development, according to Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, president of the Gorge Waterway Association.

The association Saturday joined the ranks of city-wide movement seeking to prevent the private-owned property from becoming a housing subdivision.

"Price should not be allowed to interfere with the purchase of the property," Mr. Edgelow said. "It is the one park area in that district for all time."

Reeve A. C. Wurdelle of Esquimalt, also said he favored purchase of the property. "The land should be bought and left in its wild state," he said.

Kinsmen Plan Big Barbecue

CHEMAMINUS—The Kinsmen Club will assist the local centennial committee during the August celebrations by staging a big outdoor salmon barbecue Aug. 23.

President Nick Maika said the club should get behind the centennial committee "and help them put over the celebration here."

The barbecue will be the big attraction on the Saturday with a salmon derby on the Sunday. Mr. Maika said the chefs who prepare the salmon for the All Sooke Day celebrations were being contacted with a view to assisting Kinsmen.

The Chemainus club will enter two rinks in the Kinsmen all-island bonspiel at Port Alberni March 1. Seven members will make an inter-club visit to the Vic-Van-Isle club of Victoria next Thursday.

Sportsmen to Use Chip Wharf Floats

CHEMAMINUS—Western Forest Industries Ltd. plan to shut down their chip wharf here March 31 for an indefinite period and have offered the use of their floats to the Rod and Gun Club.

In a letter to the club the company offered the use of all the inside area and portions of the outside not used or needed by Chemainus Towing Co.

Al Dyer said it involved taking over the payment of a caretaker at $20 a month.

"We've been wanting more space for our boats for some time and this will permit us to moor many more in a safe, protected place."

"It will also provide a place for visiting yachts and small boats to tie up both on the inside and outside. It's getting now so that there isn't any room at the Government Wharf for visiting boats."

In the event the company lost its lease on the foreshore or decided to start up the chipper wharf again, they will give the club ample notice, he said.

Members accepted the offer providing ready access to the float are available over the Chemainus Towing Co. dock.

A resolution introduced by Don Anderson in regard to hunting and shooting accidents caused considerable discussion. Mr. Anderson's resolution

March 22 Vote On $485,734 Schools By-Law

LADYSMITH—Ratepayers of Ladysmith School District 67 will vote March 22 on a referendum bylaw authorizing a total expenditure of $485,734 on new schools and improvements to existing schools.

Of this amount $405,482 must be borrowed, and the school district will be responsible for $202,741.82 of this amount, to be raised by taxation. Provincial government will provide the balance.

Largest single item will be $180,000 to add five rooms to Chemainus Junior-Senior High School and remodel the building.

New schools are slated for South Chemainus and Arcady, and the balance will be spent on additions to existing schools, furnishings, and school sites.

It is hoped to make a start this year on the Chemainus addition. Other extensions will be delayed until warranted by the enrolment, but it is expected all will be under way within three years.

The school board based the program on a survey of enrolments over the last eight years, and a forecast of enrolments for the 1963-64 school year.

The forecast took into account only the number of pre-school children now living in the district.

Pioneer Park Sketch Plans Ready Soon

DUNCAN—Sketch plans of developments at Pioneer Park and adjacent exhibition grounds for the staging of the annual Cowichan Exhibition will be shown Cowichan Community Centre Association shortly, according to Stan Kirkham.

Mr. Kirkham, retiring president of the association that administers Pioneer Park, said the exhibition board had approved plans for a new agricultural hall, but will give priority to an administrative building and stock barns.

He gave his report at the annual meeting of the association. "The cost of these buildings and the agricultural hall is to be part of a dollar-for-dollar agreement with the federal department of agriculture," he said. "It is our hope that the agricultural hall will prove to be the community hall and centre we so badly need."

Other improvements listed by Mr. Kirkham were the building of bleachers by Kinsmen at the Babe Ruth League ball diamond, work by Kiwanis Club on its playground project, and building by the city and North Cowichan municipality of a new sidewalk on James Street leading to the park.

Sheep Act Not Enforced

DUNCAN—North Cowichan council last week heard complaints about the number of sheep killed in the Cowichan Valley.

One complaint said the provincial government through the RCMP was "reluctant" to enforce the Sheep Protection Act in the unorganized area.

In certain areas, dogs running wild are shot on sight as a means to stamp out inroads on sheep.

14 Women Eager To Aid Hospital

CHEMAMINUS—Fourteen women are eager to join an evening branch to the Chemainus General Hospital Auxiliary. Mrs. Ken Boyd reported at the monthly meeting of the auxiliary.

They want to be a working group rather than a social club, and will meet one night a month in the hospital board room.

Cut in Assessment Granted Pulp Mill

DUNCAN (CP)—B.C. Forest Products won a substantial reduction in assessment on the Crofton pulp mill when company representatives appeared before the North Cowichan court of revision Friday.

Assessment on the $46,000,000 pulp mill is $13,000,000. North Cowichan assessors had allowed a reduction of 42½ per cent on all machinery for the year 1957 because the plant was not in operation.

The company claimed that this reduction should have been applied to the total assessment, which would include the buildings and the 10-mile-long water pipeline which serves the mill.

The assessment appeal board allowed this appeal.

The company also appealed for an overall reduction of the assessment to $8,000,000, but this appeal was not allowed. Magistrate W. H. Bryant,

City to Probe Payments Under Bus Franchise

Comptroller Backs Inequality Claim

An alleged inequality in payments by the B.C. Electric for bus franchise agreements with Greater Victoria municipalities will be fully investigated by city council public works committee.

It was pointed out at City Hall today that Victoria receives a smaller per capita payment than Oak Bay, Esquimalt or Saanich despite heavier usage of city roads by buses.

City comptroller Dennis A. Young confirmed the situation described by city engineer J. C. Garnett.

The agreement with all four municipalities is that the company will pay 3 per cent of the gross revenue, determined on a mileage basis within each municipality.

However, in the city's case, total taxes paid on BCER transportation buildings and property in Victoria, are deducted from the gross revenue before the percentage is applied, said Mr. Garnett.

He pointed out the deduction does not apply in the other municipalities because all BCER properties concerned are located in the city.

DROPPING
Mr. Young said revenue to the city last year from the franchise agreement was about $25,000. It has been dropping about $3,000 a year for the last four or five years, he added.

A report on the matter will be made to the committee. The discussion followed a meeting with company officials on the proposed re-routing of Haultain buses to Bay Street due to complaints of vibrations in Haultain homes.

Council will be asked to order a $9,000 repaving of the street and enforcement of a 20-mile speed limit for all vehicles on Haultain between Fernwood and Shelbourne. Company officials opposed changing the bus route due to petitions from bus customers in the area.

It was felt, due to the nature of the land, the foundation of Haultain Street could never be suitably strengthened to halt vibrations except at a prohibitive cost. Company officials said new buses are not to blame. Due to part aluminum construction, they are lighter than old models, although of a larger capacity.

Works Board Supports Nature Haven

A recommendation that 400 acres of 1,210-acre Thetis Lake Park be set aside as a nature sanctuary was passed to city council today by public works committee.

Although not officially dedicated, the area concerned would be turned over for development to the Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association.

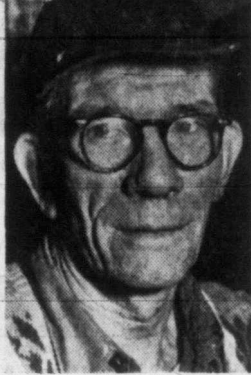

Under the scheme, the area would be a haven for birds, animals and native B.C. plants, and protected by law.

AFTER TOUR
The committee's decision followed a tour of the area Saturday.

Public works chairman, Ald. G. I. Edgewood and other civic officials spent four hours hiking in the area in company with officials of interested nature groups.

The development is supported in recent letters from Victoria Begonia Society, B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society, Victoria Horticultural Society, South Vancouver Island Rangers, Victoria Natural History Society and Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society.

The area involved does not conflict with areas set aside to be partially or completely logged.

'Hot Wire Dropped I Started to Run'

Three persons narrowly escaped death shortly after 10 a.m. today when feeder circuit power lines blew out at the Bay Street substation of the B.C. Electric Co. Ltd.

"I was standing by the bus stop on Government when there was a terrific crash like 1,000 tons of explosives," said W.A. Snyder, 2424 Wark. "A hot wire dropped within a couple of feet of me. I started to run."

The lines carried 4,000 volts. The explosion and flashing flames lasted about three seconds and travelled along lines at least 100 yards.

About 30 per cent of Victoria's downtown business area lost power for 20 minutes.

Company officials said the blast was caused by a circuit fire, probably occasioned by wet weather conditions which made a short circuit.

The wires were down all over the intersection.

Mrs. W. M. Kinnis, 40 Gorge Road, said: "I heard a noise like a cannon and saw a huge ball of fire. Pieces of the line fell beside me. It sure was a scare."

Bill Di Castri, 4025 Borden, in a nearby building thought the power station had blown up. "I saw the woman (Mrs. Kinnis) running down the street. The poor woman was terrified."

E. W. Britt, 570 Bay, was working in his front yard when the blast took place. A wire came down across the street narrowly missing an army truck going towards Government.

"I thought the driver had had it. I've never seen a man put on his brakes so fast."

Smoke covered the area and power poles were still smouldering 15 minutes after the circuit break.

50 ASK PRIVATE INTERVIEWS

Packed Churches Hear U.K. Doctor

By DINAH KERR

Victorians, sick and well, are clamoring to see Dr. Christopher Woodard, London doctor who believes in the power of prayer to cure "incurable" disease, following his addresses at two jam-packed churches Sunday.

At least 50 have asked for private interviews, Mrs. W. H. Hughes, secretary of the Lessons in Living Group, said today.

The interdenominational religious group arranged his speaking engagements here.

Dr. Woodard was to see Dr. Anne Steel at Royal Jubilee Hospital today. Dr. Steel has been in a coma for 21 months following a riding accident at Osoyoos, B.C., in May of 1956.

He plans to see her daily before leaving Thursday. "But I certainly won't see her unless the spirit moves me," he said Sunday.

Curious, Hopeful
The curious and the hopeful flocked to St. John's Anglican church Sunday morning to hear Dr. Woodard give the sermon. He spoke that night at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church to a sitting and standing congregation.

At St. John's latecomers were directed to the church hall where they heard the sermon over a public address system.

The 44-year-old doctor maintained that no disease is incurable.

"I stand up here before you unashamedly as a doctor who believes in the teaching of Jesus," he said. "Nothing on this earth could undermine my trust in God. I believe in the absolute healing power of Christ."

'We Do Not Look'
The "awful part" is, he said, that people are so lacking in faith that they do not see the healing effects of prayer.

"It is bold, presumptuous and wicked to say that because we don't see it, that it's not there to see," Dr. Woodard said. "In the rush and bustle of human life, we do not look to see."

Unbelievers have made a "terrifying mockery" of Christ.

"Jesus has said we could be free from sickness and sin," he said, "yet we break His every law. Is it surprising we seem to have more disease, particularly of the mind, than ever before?"

The doctor, who objects to being called a "faith healer," said he believes absolutely in the miracles of Christ.

'Absolute Truths'
"You do believe Jesus walked on water, don't you?" he asked. "You do believe he raised Lazarus from the dead?"

Whether believed or not, these are "absolute truths," the doctor said.

"Jesus can at any moment of any day take any of you or me walking on the water ... Either you believe all he taught or you might just as well go grow potatoes and forget everything he said."

Dr. Woodard told the congregation he had seen a dying child "instantly healed by no other touch than the touch of the Divine Master."

... when spirit moves him

While Christ walked the earth, he healed sickness, "but that's not the end of it," the doctor said.

Thrilling Chance

"He said these things I do, you can do. He said that to everyone of us, and that gives us the most thrilling opportunity this morning."

Dr. Woodard called on the congregation to "acknowledge His absolute power and ask for forgiveness of sins."

"In that spirit you can call on His name and you will be granted everything you ask," he said.

"There is no sin which cannot be forgiven ... you are bound to be forgiven by God Almighty if you ask in the true spirit."

100 Shake Hands

More than 100 of the congregation filed past Dr. Woodard to shake his hand following the service.

Other speaking engagements arranged for the doctor:

First Baptist Church, tonight at 8;

Lessons in Living Group, St. John's Church, Tuesday at 8 p.m.;

Lenten service, St. John's Church, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Dr. Woodard will conduct a "laying on of hands" communion service in St. John's Thursday at 10 a.m.

He leaves Thursday afternoon to give talks in Seattle, Wash., and Oakland, Calif.

Mrs. Moresby Funeral Set For Wednesday

Mrs. Annie Fairweather Moresby, 69, a native of Greenock, Scotland, and resident here since 1911, died in hospital Sunday after a lengthy illness.

Surviving are the widower, William C. Moresby, QC, of 624 Trutch Street; a son, William J. Dawson Creek; three daughters, Mrs. William D. Streeter, Otter Park, B.C.; Mrs. Stephen C. Kershaw, Vancouver; and Miss Mary Moresby, Victoria.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 3:15 at Hayward's chapel, with Rev. T. Haythorne officiating, and will be followed by cremation.

Seaman Accused Of Breaking Into Gorge Home

A 22-year-old naval seaman, charged in Saanich police court today with breaking into a dwelling house with intent to commit an offence, was granted a remand without plea to Thursday.

Garry Wayne Mitchell asked for time to obtain legal counsel. Police said a man broke into the home of James Stobie, 590 Gorge West, where Mrs. Stobie and her 2-year-old daughter slept, at 4 a.m. Sunday.

Stobie, also in the navy, was on duty at the time.

Newspaper Headlines Scored by Clergyman

Rev. Richard James Welsh, vicar of St. David's-by-the-Sea, called on his parishioners Sunday to register a "very strong protest" against headlines in local newspapers.

The attack is directed at "the apparent lack of manners shown by the local press in referring to officers and positions of dignity in the community."

Mr. Welsh, a former newspaperman with British United Press, referred in particular to a Times' story about Archbishop Harold E. Sexton, Saturday.

The front-page headline read "Sexton to Preach in Abbey." "You might just as well say

"Geoff crowns Bess," the vicar said.

He also scored newspapers for referring to Lieutenant Governor Frank Ross in headlines as "Ross."

MORE RESPECT
"Some other designation should go in to suggest that 'Ross' is something other than the village blacksmith," he said.

Mr. Welsh said newspapers have a "responsibility to show a certain respect to those to whom respect is due."

"Quite a few people" had already protested the headlines, he said, and a "flood" of letters will be sent to both papers.

MONTE ROBERTS

My Favorite Wife and I have just finished (and I do mean finished) a discussion on the topic: "Which way is East?"

(Never mind how we got into this discussion. The genesis of discussions between husbands and wives is invariably too inscrutable for definition.)

"One thing about me," MFW said, "I'll never get lost, because I always know which way is East."

"You do?" I asked, foolishly leaving the way open for further conversation.

"Of course," said MFW. "East is always to my left."

Always to your left, eh, I remarked.

"Always," repeated MFW. "No matter where I stand, East is to my left."

Are you sure of this? I inquired.

"Of course I am sure," said MFW. "Look at any map, and you will see what I mean."

So I looked at any map, but I couldn't see what she meant, and I said so.

"Look more closely," said MFW, with what patience she could muster. "What do you see on the right side of the map?"

I see a symbol "E," meaning "East," I said.

"Well, then," MFW went on, "you are FACING the map, are you not?"

"Therefore," she said, "the map is facing you. And if you were the map, the RIGHT side would be the LEFT side. And the RIGHT side is EAST on the map, so if YOU were the map, the LEFT side would be East."

Glub, I said.

"Do not look so stupid," said MFW. "Maps are always right. And on maps, East is always left."

"Oh, I said, you mean West is West and East is left, and never ..."

"And never get lost," said MFW, "as long as you remember East is to your left, no matter where you stand."

How about if you are standing on the North Pole, I asked.

"Who do you think I am," said MFW, indignantly, "Santa Claus?"

No, I said.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Color and monochrome competitions will be held by Victoria Camera Club at a meeting in the Art Gallery Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. New officers elected at the recent annual meeting are Roy Wray, president; Sam Marling, vice-president; Dora Payne, secretary; Harry Webster, treasurer, and D. C. Wyatt, director.

B.C. highway traffic fatalities increased 50 per cent in January 1958 over the same month a year ago. Of the 21 who died last month, 12 were pedestrians. Drunkenness, jaywalking, icy roads and wearing of dark clothing while walking on roadways, contributed to most of these deaths, according to provincial motor vehicle branch statistics.

Victoria Prayer Healing study group will meet at Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall Wednesday at 3 p.m.

A movie entitled "With Ski and Rope" will be presented by Hans Gmoser in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The film lecture is sponsored by the Victoria Sno-Birds Ski Club.

Hermannus H. Baanstra, 21, of 610 Pine, was fined $75 in city police court today for supplying liquor to minors.

He pleaded guilty to the charge last week.

Police said Baanstra was the owner of some beer being consumed in a car parked in a school yard.

The minors were a boy 18, and two girls 16 and 18.

A quantity of explosive, 12 magnesium flares and a number of railroad torpedoes were stolen Saturday from a caboose in the E & N railway yard, city police were told.

CPR police said the caboose had been broken into, apparently some time during the day.

Two teen-aged boys stole a statue of Buddha in a daylight raid in Chinatown Saturday noon.

Mrs. Yick, of Yick Fung Dry Goods store, 1605 Government, told police the boys came into her store, took a 5½-inch statue of the oriental god from a counter and ran off on Cormorant Street.

She described the two as 14 or 15 years old, one wearing a black leather jacket, the other a white Indian sweater.

The Buddha was valued at $8.95.

A house full of smoke awoke S. Witowski, 802 Bay, at 5:50 a.m. Sunday, but no cause was evident.

Firemen and police subsequently cleared up the mystery when they found two neighborhood brothers aged 7 and 9 had been playing under the house Saturday with candles and tacking.

Apparently the tacking ignited and smouldered through the night, causing smoke to sift through the flooring.

Sam Lorandini quietly marked his 91st birthday today at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lorandini, 1594 Derby Road. He moved here from Wellington, B.C., two weeks ago.

MANY PORTS IN STORE FOR CRUISER

Training cruiser HMCS Ontario, which returned only two weeks ago from a 3,500 voyage to the Panama Canal, set sail this morning for a 20,000-mile trip that is expected to be the longest cruise by a Pacific Command ship this year.

The Ontario will call at Pearl Harbor, March 3-7; Suva, in the Fiji Islands, March 17-19; Auckland, New Zealand and Sydney, Australia, April 1-8.

Homebound bound she will revisit Suva April 14, pick up a two-frigate escort at sea April 22, call at Honolulu April 24-26 and return to Esquimalt May 5.

Four Escape In Malahat Car Crash

Weekend traffic crashes injured eight persons in Greater Victoria area.

Four men escaped serious injury when their 1941 model coupe went out of control and was wrecked on a rock wall near Malahat summit at 1:40 a.m. Sunday.

Driver was identified as John Edward Jones, Sherwood Auto Court, who was admitted at Jubilee Hospital with head injuries.

With him were Michael Huber, 1532 Richmond, shoulder injury, discharged; Peter W. Roberts, 1828 St. Ann, rib and knee injuries, discharged, and a fourth man, injured slightly, who left the scene before police arrived and was not identified.

It was foggy at the time of the accident, which occurred about a half mile south of the lookout.

Mrs. Doris Housley, 24, Glen Lake, received injuries to knees and elbows and Mrs. Kathleen Carter, 30, Pickford Road, in the same car, received a head cut when a car driven by Melville D. Housley was in collision with another car at Craigflower and Admirals today at 7:45 a.m.

William Wigmore, 1424 Craddock, was identified as driver of the other car.

In other accidents were the following: Colin Campbell, 1031 Pandora, treated for shock after being in collision in a crosswalk; Lee Chan, 1713 Government, head cut in a fall from his bicycle.

Calgary Deal Dims City Hopes

Word that Woodward Stores Ltd. has completed all details preparatory to building a new store in Calgary today dimmed City Hall hopes for a similar construction here.

Property negotiations have been bogged down in Victoria for some months. Options are not being renewed on a three-block area adjoining City Hall.

Local Woodward manager, Courtney Haddock said:

"We are not making any new approaches. I don't know what to tell you."

Mayor Scurrah returns to the city from the east next week. When the proposal for a new store, which would have meant sale of Victoria's City Hall and construction of a new one, was put forward, it was explained the company was undecided whether to build here or Calgary.

"WIDOWHOOD"

The Lonely Road

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

This is the eleventh of a series of articles written in order to be of service to the four out of five wives who one day will face widowhood.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON CHAPTER II

She still is a Mrs. She still wears a wedding ring, uses her husband's last name, cares for his children and maintains his household. But her husband is gone and the widow is not the same to society or her friends.

Plunging into a world of singletons after having lived happily within the social security of marriage is one of the most difficult phases a widow must face. The younger she is, the harder it is for her to console herself to the doors now closed to her.

That she has new rules to follow in order to maintain her good name is also somewhat of a shock to her.

I called a friend, an appliance man, to have him repair my washing machine as he had done on many an occasion when my husband was alive. He said, "I'll be right over . . . or as soon as my wife gets home so that she can come with me. I wouldn't want your neighbors to misunderstand."

THOUGHT IT FUNNY

It had never occurred to me that they would! That time I thought his attitude was hilariously funny.

Me a spider with a web of intrigue?

The husband of a high school girl friend of mine telephoned while on business in town. I hadn't heard from him in 14 years. "Come home with me to dinner," I offered. How many times in our marriage had my husband and I both brought anyone we had happened to meet during the day home for dinner?

But he hesitated, embarrassed until I hastened to add that my mother was visiting with me and that it would be perfectly proper.

Suddenly my new position

did not seem very funny. Stupid, naïve me! I would have to learn all over again that the code of conduct for a single woman is different as the world is for her. I would have to get used to being a singleton even though I still think of myself as very much married.

There have been plenty of reminders of the closed doors which I cannot open the rest of my life unless I am in the company of a man. "If you can get a date, please come to our party," carefully qualify some of my married friends.

On my vacation to New York there were restaurants I could not visit, landmarks I could not see, formal openings I could not attend because I was a lone female traveler.

Worse than that, I suddenly was aware of hundreds of chic, smart, and desperately lonely career women who banded together like a pack of wolves, hunting, hunting, hunting "a man."

I discovered they settle for much less than they would have if they were younger, simply to have companionship, not particularly romance. Some of them drift into fruitless affairs, or compromise with a refined sort of gigoloism just to have a man in their lives, however temporarily.

Would I someday become one of these, frantic, ugly women, I wondered? It was a frightening possibility to face.

"You will marry again after your wounds have healed," my friends, even my husband's relatives, insist. Some well-meaning ones have tried match-making, which is flattering to me, but embarrassing. I object to being placed in the role of a husband hunter, simply because I do not have one.

Statistically, the chances are 17 to one that I, a widow under 35 with children will not marry again. For women over that age the national statistic ratio is even greater. There are more reasons for this than the shortage of men and the responsibility of children.

Women, as well as men past 30, are less willing, less able to adjust to another pattern of life. Some, such as I, would not give up established careers to begin again as a bride. And some are more particular about the educational backgrounds, earning capacities than they might have been during their normal teen-and-twenty courtship days.

GRATEFUL

Frankly, I am grateful and satisfied with the 11 years of happy married life I had, well aware that I am better off than those who have never been married at all, and far better off than those who have been married without finding happiness.

Today I am too busy to care about the world of pairs to which I no longer belong. And tomorrow I'm going to be that busy, too.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Look Around—You Can Give Love and Service

Love is woman's best chance for happiness, for finding life warm and deeply satisfying. No career can make up for lack of this, no matter how successful or exciting it may be.

The love for a husband and children is the ideal one for a woman; but if she lacks this there are many other ways for loving and serving which feed this deep need in her. This is woman's forte and when she deserts it she is frustrated in an important way.

If she approaches life with a warmhearted attitude, she will find opportunities for love all about her. There always are people to be helped and encouraged in everyday life no matter where you live. There are philanthropies and groups of children and young people, and the ill—all need your time and energy and, even more, your heart. Service which has personal contact is most valuable for those who are aided and for the woman herself.

Marriage and love are gambles. Once you become wholly involved in matters of Practically everyone responds to a truly generous love. If a woman can forget herself and love with confidence, without suspicion or sensitiveness, because she is investing herself entirely in another, it will affect her marriage in a hundred subtle ways and wipe the slate clean of many of the mistakes which kill romance in marriage.

Besides this, such an investment is some insurance against hurt because the reward is certain; namely, the opportunity to live wholeheartedly. With this attitude it always will have been worthwhile, no matter what happens.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Keeping Romance Alive," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 63. Address: Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Unity Is Theme Of WMS Devotional

Unity was the theme of a devotional given by Mrs. J. E. Brown at a meeting of the afternoon auxiliary, Woman's Missionary Society of Metropolitan United Church, Mrs. Brown likened life to a symphony orchestra, when different instruments are used to attain harmonious music. She pointed out that much had been done to achieve church union, but that more could be done.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Beaumont, Victoria, had Wesley Stephens, Vancouver, as best man. Mrs. Beaumont attended the ceremony in a royal blue wool dress and her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Lauren Upson, mother of the bride, wore a navy silk shantung suit with matching straw hat and tangerine-toned carnations, en corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother.

The newlyweds will make their home in Berkeley, where the bride is a student at University of California.

Guests were received by Mrs. Gardiner, president of the branch, and Mrs. C. Simmons, first vice president. Mrs. R. Dwyer was convener of the affair, with Mrs. E. Hart assisting.

Presiding at the tea table which was centred with a silver bowl, flanked by pink candles, were Mrs. Brian Whitlow, Mrs. R. E. H. Howell, Mrs. A. E. Greenhaigh and Mrs. E. J. Chalmers.

Serviteurs were Mrs. B. L. Josephs, Mrs. A. Semple, Mrs. J. R. MacDonald, Mrs. K. Aitkin, Mrs. H. S. Langford, Mrs. G. Pidcock, Mrs. W. Green, Mrs. L. Curtis, Mrs. A. J. Marlow and the Misses M. J. Wollaston, R. Jones, M. Robinson and E. Brown.

Miss E. M. Gollmer and Mrs. S. Townsend convener a home-cooking and produce stall; Mrs. M. Fairclough, children's woolens. Donations were received by Mrs. G. A. P. Harris, treasurer.

'Time Run Out' On Power Needs

KELOWNA — Time to meet British Columbia's fast growing power needs "has already run out," Charles W. Nash, director of load development for the B.C. Power Commission said here Saturday.

Addressing the Kelowna and District Rod and Gun Club, he said that if the price of fish, "which is now a luxury" was to preclude economic hydro development, everyone will be forced to pay the price in power.

He urged his audience to think of fishery interests and power resources as "fish and power" rather than "fish or power."

"You can only hope to realize your best interests if you ensure that the various resource components of your rivers are considered in their relative importance to the general economy."

This principle should mean, he went on, that the province can have most of the fish and most of the power potential of the rivers, "and not just either one to the total exclusion of the other."

He said if power did not come from an economic source, it would have to come from an uneconomic source.

INEFFICIENT

Already, he said, "we are now moving into a program to produce energy by burning up our valuable hydrocarbon fossil fuels in what is a most inefficient and wasteful use of a natural resource."

Mr. Nash stated that power developments totalling 52,500 horsepower on the Sprout and Stamp Rivers on Vancouver Island were being delayed pending results of investigation of fisheries protection.

"The output of these plants is urgently required by the commission."

He listed a number of power developments which he claimed had been hindered or stopped because of consideration for a small fishery which did not compare in importance with the size or importance of the power project.

Of the 10,000,000 horsepower needed in B.C. in the next 20 years, the Columbia River can supply one-quarter, he said. This leaves 7,500,000 horsepower which could be developed "if it were not for fish."

"B.C. takes about 1 per cent of the world's fish catch. At our door is the world's largest ocean, from which North America takes only 3 per cent of the world's catch. The Asians take 30 per cent of the world catch from the same ocean."

"If we are really worried about our fish supplies, there in the ocean is a huge source of protein available if we develop methods for harvesting it."

Two Sent to Jail At Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER — Two men were sentenced Friday when they appeared before Magistrate P. E. Lewis in police court here.

Norman McPhee will serve nine months for theft of a saw from a building contractor, and an additional three months for thefts from the government wharf here and at Elk Falls mill.

David Edward Anderson was sentenced to six months definite and nine months indeterminate in the Young Offenders' Unit for breaking and entering Campbell River High School.

42 Scholarships to Mark Insurance Firm Centenary

Forty-two university scholarships are being issued across Canada this year by the New York Life Insurance Co. to mark the 100th year since the company was established in Canada.

Announcement was made here jointly by James A. Forsythe, Vancouver, supervisor of Western Canadian offices, and Victoria manager, Jack Langan.

To be split on a regional basis, two scholarships will be allocated for B.C.

First New York Life policy sold in Canada was Feb. 23, 1858, to Toronto lawyer William Matling. Agent was J. Leander Starr.

Thirty scholarships will be issued high school students, and the remainder to university students.

In the high school bracket, the awards will be $350, $200 and $100 and in the university classification, $500 each, with an additional $500 granted to the national winners.

CHAIRMAN COMING

Chosen by Saturday Review as "Businessman of the Year," New York Life board chairman D. C. Josephs will likely be in Victoria in the early fall, at which time he will participate in the province's centennial celebrations.

In 1955 he served as chairman of a Ford Foundation committee which advised on distribution of $260,000,000 to colleges, hospitals and medical schools.

New York Life is the world's fourth largest insurance company with assets over $6 billion. There were about $70 million in policy sales in Canada in 1957, and the company has $130 million invested in this country.

Girl Killed When Car Crashes Bank

NANAIMO — An inquest will be held here tonight into the death of Theresa Stewart, 16, of Nanaimo Indian Reserve No. 1, killed Saturday night in a car crash on Cedar Road between Nanaimo and Ladysmith.

The young girl, a front seat passenger in a car driven by Augustine Michelenko of Alberni, was thrown against the dashboard of the car when it failed to make a curve near the Haslam-Cedar Road intersection in fog and plunged into an embankment.

She was dead on arrival at Nanaimo General Hospital.

Michelenko and passengers Janet Seaward, Nanaimo Reserve, and Gerald Watt, Alberni, suffered minor injuries and were released after treatment.

RCMP from Ladysmith said the accident occurred at 11:45 p.m. Saturday. No other car was involved.

Crisis Blamed On Alien Plot By Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (Reuters) — President Sukarno, his government opposed by central Sumatran rebels, charged today that "foreign force has started exploiting upheavals" in Indonesia.

Sukarno's statement was reported by the Indonesian news agency Antara, which did not quote him as naming the foreign force. The story was issued after a government spokesman warned that foreign intervention in Indonesia's "internal problem" might lead to "all-out war."

Sukarno, whose regime is accused by the rebels of harboring Communists, made an apparent reference to East-West tensions in a talk to students and veterans. Antara reported he said:

"If before the two conflicting world blocs were satisfied if we remained on the middle of the road by pursuing an independent foreign policy, now the situation has changed in that one of the power blocs wished us to join it and for that purpose begins to meddle in our internal affairs."

Steak Feast For Fuchs

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters) — British explorer Vivian Fuchs and his 12-man trans-Antarctic team Sunday night feasted on sizzling steaks flown to them on the edge of a bleak ice plateau.

Two planes flew from Scott Base, the expedition's goal on the Ross Sea, with a heated, pre-cooked banquet to celebrate the team's completion of the trek across the polar plateau.

Fuchs, Everest conqueror Sir Edmund Hillary and the rest of the men in the Commonwealth party reached the plateau depot 280 miles from Scott Base after a spectacular 80-mile dash Saturday.

The team feasted and drank toasts in a gay celebration before starting out on the last leg of their 2,100-mile journey, which started three months ago at Shackleton Base on the opposite side of the continent.

Will Power Healed Churchill Says Book

LONDON (AP) — A post-humous book by a son-in-law of Sir Winston Churchill says the "miracle of will power" enabled the statesman to recover from his second stroke in 1953.

The 83-year-old former prime minister was reported today to be making satisfactory progress against pneumonia and pleurisy on the French Riviera.

Churchill overcame a first stroke in 1950.

The book giving details of his second stroke is Focus on Fame by Anthony Beauchamp, society photographer and television producer who killed himself last year. He was married to Churchill's daughter, Sarah.

Beauchamp wrote that he learned about the second stroke from Sarah's sister, Diana. The stroke was not announced publicly at the time, but the news came out months later.

"She asked me to come around and see her immediately," Beauchamp wrote. "When I reached the house she told me her father was very seriously ill. She told me that on the previous night he had been working in a private room when he suddenly found he was unable to rise from his chair."

"His old friend and physician, Lord Moran was summoned and it was discovered Sir Winston had had a stroke."

"By the miracle of will power my father-in-law soon completely conquered the effects of the stroke, both in mind and body."

"He went back to work with renewed vigor and only a little later went to Bermuda for a postponed meeting with Eisenhower."

Jobless Problem Plagues Australia
CANBERRA (Reuters) — Australia's unemployment figures — 73,765 registered out of a total working population of about 4,000,000 — have brought the federal government under fire from unions and businessmen, newspapers and the Labor party.

The unemployment increase has been mainly in New South Wales and Queensland, both badly hit by drought.

Experts Probe Mystery Tracks On Ocean Floor

NEW YORK (AP) — About 400 miles from the North Pole there are tracks on the ocean floor. Nobody knows how they got there or how long they have been there.

The mysterious tracks—7,000 feet below the surface—were turned up by Columbia University scientists making the first photographs of the ocean bottom in the central polar region.

Some have called them "chicken tracks," for want of a better name.

"Tracks like that, if made by sea snails, would have a burrow at one end and a snail at the other—only this time there is nothing," said Dr. Kenneth Hunkins, a geophysicist at the university's Lamont geological observatory, Palisades, N.Y.

"We don't know what they are," Hunkins said, "although there is marine life up there."

Hardy researchers, led by Columbia scientists, took the photographs while drifting on an Arctic ice pack. The photographic method was developed by Dr. Edward M. Thorndike, research associate in geology at the observatory.

A 35-millimetre camera, carrying its own light source, is enclosed in a metal container built to withstand the tremendous pressure of the ocean depths. It is lowered through a hole in the ice at the end of a wire. When the camera hits the ocean floor, the impact triggers the light and the camera shutter.

New Manager Named For Credit Branch

He succeeds Bernard Cavin who was named manager of the organization's collection department in Vancouver.

Big Nuclear Bomb Exploded by Russ

WASHINGTON (UP) — Russia exploded a large nuclear weapon Sunday, the U.S. government has reported. Japanese reports led to speculation it might have been an upper atmosphere or out-of-space test of an intercontinental missile with an H-bomb warhead.

The official U.S. announcement, like most previous American disclosures of Soviet nuclear blasts, was brief and said little. The one-paragraph statement said:

"Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), stated that the Soviets had conducted a nuclear weapons test today (Sunday) in Soviet territory. The yield of the test was in the megaton range." (A megaton is the equivalent of one million tons of TNT.)

The report did not indicate whether the test was an atomic or hydrogen weapon.

Japanese scientists, who first reported word of Red nuclear test, said later the device had the same power as a "new design" hydrogen bomb the Russians tested last Oct. 6.

The Soviet news agency Tass described the Oct. 6 blast as "carried out at great altitudes" and said the bomb was of "new design."

'LACK OF PUBLIC INTEREST'

Recreation Council Officially Folded

Recreation Council of Greater Victoria was formally dissolved at a meeting of the board last week.

Lack of public interest or official authority were given as reason for the action.

The group has been inactive for two years, but between 1946 and 1956 it pioneered various fields of recreation which still function in the district.

These include the Sports Council, the first two 60-Up Groups, a Christmas Carol Festival, which since has been taken over by the Lions.

The Recreation Council assisted with a drive for playlots, and ran backyard playground competitions. The group also spearheaded a campaign for a civic auditorium and setting up of a recreation commission, among other projects.

"For these things, the people of this area just did not seem ready," a statement issued by the board points out.

Electricians Standing Pat On Pay Issue

No move towards settlement of a dispute, involving 120 electrical workers here, has been made by either side following a strike vote taken two weeks ago.

Jack Driscoll, business agent for Local 230, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said today "everybody's still standing pat."

A total of 1,300 IBEW members in Vancouver and Victoria voted for strike action to back demands for wage increases of up to 20 per cent. The Victoria members are employed by B.C. Electric Co. and Hume and Rumble Ltd.

Mr. Driscoll said if negotiations resume they will be conducted in Vancouver. If negotiations are not re-opened, a strike can be called on 48 hours' notice to the companies.

Linesmen, comprising the largest category of workers, earn $2.41 to $2.49 at present.

Saanich Asks Pearkes' Aid On Army Hut

Assistance of Defence Minister Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, has been requested by Saanich municipality in efforts to obtain an army hut from Camp Gordon Head.

Reeve Arthur Ash said Saturday purchase of a building "at a nominal sum" is sought to provide a temporary office addition to the municipal hall.

Municipal engineer Neville Life and building inspector John Taylor last week inspected camp buildings that would not be needed by Victoria College if it should move its campus to the area.

The move was made following a recommendation by the council's special committee seeking a temporary solution to the problem of overcrowding at Royal Oak.

TWO YOUNGSTERS SAFE
AFTER NIGHT ON MOUNT

HOPE (CP) — Two Hope teenagers, Richard Webster, 16, and Arlene Keim, 14, who spent Sunday night in rain on the side of 4,000-foot Mount Ogilvie, walked out safely today.

They had been the object of an intensive search by civilians and the RCAF.

A witness said the couple "felt fine" this morning. "It got late and they thought it would be more sensible to spend the night on the mountain rather than attempt to get down," she said.

On S. Korea

PANMUNJON, Korea (Reuters)—The United Nations command today rejected a Communist demand that UN forces in South Korea be withdrawn.

The demand was made Sunday night by Communist delegates to the Korean Armistice Commission.

Gen. Kang Sun Ho of North Korea said responsibility for the unification of Korea rests with the UN because Chinese forces already are withdrawing in the north.

Auto Race Called Off;
Rebels Kidnap Champ

HAVANA (AP) — Havana's Gran Premio auto race was called off soon after it started Monday because of what the National Sports Commission called rebel sabotage.

Juan Manuel Fangio, world champion racing driver who was kidnapped Sunday night by rebels, was still missing when the race started.

Shortly after the first laps, five racing cars skidded on the course narrowly avoiding plunging into the crowded stands.

Spokesmen for the sports commission said a preliminary investigation indicated rebels had spread oil over the race course.

One car driven by a Cuban plunged off the course into crowded stands, injuring a number of persons.

The crowd at the track had been told before the start of the race that Fangio had been released and was being brought to the track. But when he did not appear by the start of the race, belief mounted that the rebels had decided to hold on to him a while longer.

A rebel attempt to kidnap a second race driver was reported to have been made against Britain's ace, Stirling Moss.

Appeal to Keep Children Away
From School Denied Doukhobors

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada today denied a Doukhobor couple's attempt to appeal a judgment of the British Columbia Court of Appeal in connection with their son's commitment to the New Denver, B.C., school.

Anne and Bill Perepolkin of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect applied for leave to appeal a decision of the B.C. Appeal Court that lower courts examine commitment of their son Bill, Jr., 9, under section 13 of the B.C. Protection of Children's Act.

Their son's commitment was quashed by the B.C. Appeal Court which referred the case back to the B.C. Supreme Court to see if the commitment could be enforced under the section covering unfitness of parents to keep their child.

The Perepolkins sought to prevent this re-examination of the case on the ground that the section is outside the legislative powers of the province and interferes with their religious freedom.

The Supreme Court here denied leave to appeal because the commitment order was quashed and because the B.C. courts have not examined the case in the light of section 13.

To a suggestion the commitment interferes with religious freedom, Mr. Justice Charles Locke, one of three judges who heard the appeal, said compulsory school could be refused by parents simply because they do not like the curriculum.

"If so, there would be chaos all over Western Canada," said Mr. Justice Locke, former British Columbia lawyer.

U.K. Retains Full Control
Of Bases for U.S. MissilesAtom Warheads
Kept Unarmed
To Avert Mishap

LONDON (AP)—Defence Minister Duncan Sandys announced today that the Anglo-American pact setting up rocket bases in Britain provides "that the missiles shall not be launched except by a joint, positive decision of both governments."

Sandys told a gravely attentive House of Commons:

"The nuclear warheads will remain in American custody and will be kept in an unarmed condition so that there can be no risk of a nuclear explosion and the weapon is designed in such a way that it would be impossible for it to be launched accidentally."

Cries of "shame" came from the Labor benches when the minister announced the rocket bases will be mainly in East Anglia, Lincolnshire and Yorkshire on the English east coast.

Sandys added: "It would obviously not be in the public interest to disclose the number of missiles, or the number of sites or their precise location."

FOUR IRBM BASES
It has been generally understood that the agreement provides for the establishment first of four bases for intermediate range ballistic missiles.

Sandys said the rockets will be deployed "in small numbers on dispersed sites, mostly on active or disused Royal Air Force airfields." He went on:

"The United States will supply the missiles and specialized equipment at their expense, and will also pay for the training of British personnel in America."

"Britain will meet the cost of providing and constructing the sites, and supplying certain items of equipment."

MANNED BY RAF
Sandys estimated Britain's share of the bill will be about £10,000,000 ($28,000,000).

The defence minister emphasized that the missiles will be manned and operated by RAF units.

The basic agreement for setting up the rocket bases was taken last March in Bermuda by Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower.

After today's announcement, opposition members immediately began to bombard Sandys with questions about the agreement and the circumstances under which the missiles would be fired.

One question was whether the decision to use the bases would be political or military. GOVERNMENTS DECIDE

The defence minister answered: "It will require a joint positive decision of both governments — and I stress governments, not military commanders."

George Brown, the Labor party's chief defence spokesman, asked whether Britain proposed to make her own war.

Sandys replied: "We are not planning development of a British warhead for the Thor rocket the American 1,500-mile intermediate range missile but are concentrating our efforts on developing an all-British rocket of a more advanced type."

TO RETURN?
Peron Helps Elect
Argentina President

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Gaunt, bespectacled Arturo Frondizi, a leftwing intellectual, is the new president-elect of Argentina. The support of banished dictator Juan D. Peron apparently was a decisive factor in his landslide victory.

Frondizi ran far ahead of middle-of-the-roader Ricardo Balbin Sunday in Argentina's first free presidential election in more than a decade. Nine other opponents trailed far behind.

Both are lawyers and represent left and right wings of the Radical party — a conservative group despite its name.

Frondizi said Sunday night the first job of the new Congress would be to enact a general amnesty law covering all parties and including those now in jail for their politics.

From his current refuge in the Dominican Republic, Peron today hailed Frondizi's victory as the result of the support he gave him. Peron said he would consider a return to his homeland, but planned a trip "to rest" first. He did not elaborate.

City Tug, Tow
Ride Out Storm

The Victoria salvage tug Ss. Sudbury this morning was hove to in a whole gale about 400 miles west of Vancouver Island with a crippled freighter in tow.

Her master, Capt. Harley Blagborne, reported by radio telephone at 8 a.m. today that tug and tow were riding out the storm before starting the tow to sheltered waters.

Winds of about 50 miles an hour constitute a whole gale.

Engines Out

The freighter, Ss. Lomaland, wireless for aid Saturday when her engines broke down and she began to drift helplessly.

The tug left at 1:15 p.m. Saturday, reached the freighter and put a towline aboard late Sunday afternoon. But seas were too high for towing.

The ship will be taken either to Victoria or Vancouver for repairs. She is of Liberian registry, and was inbound late Sunday for lift a cargo of lumber. Seaboard Shipping is agent.

The Sudbury is the tug which made headlines in 1955 with the 3,500-mile tow of the Greek freighter Makedonia.

U.S. Satellite
Radio Sparks
Back to Life

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The high-powered radio transmitter on the U.S. satellite Explorer has inexplicably come to life after apparently dying on Feb. 12.

Dr. Henry L. Richter, Jr., electronics supervisor for the lab, said signals have been picked up at the nearby tracking station in Temple City, in Illinois, Cuba and other places.

Richter said that while scientists lack factual knowledge, they have developed theories for the radio signal's rebirth.

One is that as the satellite orbited the high-powered transmitter was in such a position that it received no heat from the sun and froze. As the Explorer continued its flight the position of the satellite changed and the sun's heat thawed out the transmitter.

Another theory is that the transmitter became overheated and was temporarily out of commission.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

"In quietude we look to Thee, our Father, for Thy blessing at this hour. Sincerely we breathe a prayer of gratitude for Thy bountiful gifts, which our eyes behold, and for those things which we cannot see. Help us to see more clearly and accept more fully Thy provision for all our needs and Thy help in solving all our problems. May we never be guilty of taking for granted Thy gifts of mercy and forgive our waywardness as we thank Thee for Thy faithfulness; in Jesus' name. Amen."

Harry Truman's still fightin' elections, but it's hard to tell which one.

Guess Mister Diefenbaker figgers he don't need to come to Victoria becuz he's heard th' local candidate speak before.

GISELE MacKENZIE AND GROOM
... Surprise marriage.

WEDS MANAGER

Gisele Starred
In Bridal Role

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Manitoba-born singer Gisele MacKenzie, 31, and her personal manager, Robert Shuttlesworth, 44, formerly of Toronto, were married here early today.

They flew from Hollywood with a small party of friends after midnight.

The ceremony was performed by district court judge Frank McNamee in a penthouse suite of the Flamingo Hotel.

Miss MacKenzie, born in Winnipeg, wore a gown of pale blue satin with gold flecks, a matching hat and gold slippers. Shuttlesworth wore a dark blue business suit.

Maurice Kessler, a Toronto businessman, was best man. Mrs. Axel Stordahl was the bride's attendant.

FIRST FOR GISELE
This was the first marriage for Miss MacKenzie. Shuttlesworth's previous marriage ended in divorce in 1950.

The couple said they had been considering marriage a long time but definitely decided only last Saturday night.

They plan to honeymoon here two days. They will live in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Shuttlesworth first met her during the Second World War when he was serving with the Royal Canadian Navy. He persuaded her to sing at a naval function. After the war he organized a dance band and signed Miss MacKenzie as his singer.

Miss MacKenzie starred on several CBC programs before coming to the United States. She starred on the television show, Your Hit Parade, before starting her own show last September.

It has been reported that the show's sponsors are dropping it in April because of production clashes between Shuttlesworth, the show's producer and the sponsors themselves.

'America Is Strong'
See Truman Story Page 5
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that "America is strong, America is healthy" and this is "no time to listen to the people who are men of little faith, little spirit."

Eisenhower spoke to a national food conference, but his words appeared aimed directly at former president Harry S. Truman.

At a Democratic money-raising dinner in his honor Saturday night Truman lashed out at the Eisenhower administration.

He said it had brought five years of "economic misrule" which produced a Republican recession in the United States and had damaged confidence in the U.S. overseas.

Hitting back without using names, Eisenhower said the U.S. is stronger than it is represented to be by people who are "wailing" about conditions.

"These are times for courage and common sense, Eisenhower said. These, he said, can prevent what he acknowledged is an economic dip from becoming serious.

SOUTH SLOCAN, B.C. (CP) — Two sack-encased bombs were found Sunday by boys near this Doukhobor village 25 miles west of Nelson.

doubt in reporters' minds whether he would favor free and open competition with the publicly-owned CBC's television outlets and shied away from stating a view on the pricing of Canada's natural gas in Canada and the United States.

His greatest elaboration was on the Nobel peace prize issue. Progressive Conservative cabinet ministers claim Prime Minister Diefenbaker was the first to suggest the emergency UN police force for the Middle East, a proposal, they maintain, which Mr. Pearson took for his own and thus earned the 1957 peace prize.

That was not so, Mr. Pearson said. No persons and no country had any monopoly on the suggestion of a UN police force. Former prime minister St. Laurent, however, was almost the first to suggest it before the United Nations back in 1946 or 1947. Mr. Diefenbaker made his proposal in 1956.

TRIED FOR YEARS

For years the Liberal government's UN delegation had tried to get the UN to set up a permanent police force to prevent little wars from growing into big ones. Even when Mr. Diefenbaker made his proposal in the Commons in 1956, Mr. Pearson replied at that time that he already had discussed it with the UN secretary-general, but was told that the Middle East powers and other countries would not support it.

And when he sought to have the proposal discussed at a Commons external affairs committee meeting, none of the Conservative members participated in the discussion and Mr. Diefenbaker did not even appear.

The Canadian delegation at the UN finally got member countries to agree to the temporary police force for the Middle East after the Suez flare-up. Mr. Pearson said he wasn't satisfied with the temporary arrangement. As prime minister he would press for a permanent police body in his drive for peace.

Replying to other questions, he declined to state party policy on the matter of introducing private competition with CBC television outlets. He would have to discuss the question with his colleagues in the light of the Fowler commission report which he considered a "pretty impressive document." He would not go further than that.

LIKES COMPETITION

But generally he believed in economic competition. He observed that in connection with the publicly-owned TCA's monopoly on transcontinental air transport, Transport Minister George Hees had qualified a Conservative decision to end TCA's monopoly gradually.

That was "all right" with Mr. Pearson. He did not want competition introduced to the point where, for example, TCA and Canadian Pacific Airlines might both flounder. The measures of competition could best be decided by the air transport board.

A Liberal government, he said, would review the 20-per-cent advertising tax on Canadian editions of foreign magazines. The tax was imposed by the former Liberal administration and, so far, retained by the Conservatives as a measure of protection for Canadian magazines facing foreign competition.

Reporters asked whether the Liberals would do anything about the fact Canadians on the west coast appear to be paying more for natural gas than Americans who get the gas from the same Canadian pipeline. That, said Mr. Pearson, was a matter before the Borden energy commission and he didn't want to get into that controversy unless he had to.

But he indicated he would have something to say about the natural gas situation when he starts campaigning in Alberta later this week.

STURDY

Sturdy for legal advice in 1955 over his plan to go to Los Angeles with the photostats and other documents in a trunk.

NOTHING UNLAWFUL

He said Mr. Sturdy told him there would be no customs violation in this action as the documents would be regarded as personal papers, and further that he did not think Eversfield was doing anything unlawful by keeping quiet as to what the documents contained.

Eversfield said the Vancouver lawyer advised him that if he had taken valuable and essential papers from Pacific offices he could be accused of stealing, but not in the case of the papers which he had actually taken.

"In other words you've got a clean bill of health," said Mr. Bull.

"I got clarification of points that had bothered me," replied Eversfield.

Eversfield said Sturdy got in touch with him in Los Angeles late in 1955 and with the lawyer's help he prepared the first of two statutory declarations in connection with the documents. Sturdy then paid his fare to Vancouver where the documents were put before Gordon Gibson, then Liberal MLA for Lillooet.

Mr. Bull asked the witness whether he knew Mr. Gibson's interest in the case was the same as that of the Western Forest Management Association which thought no private forest management licences should be issued.

Mr. Eversfield replied that he didn't recall that.

Heroic Mother, 3 Tots Victims of Cabin Fire

ENA, Ont. (CP)—Fire roared through a one-storey log cabin at this lonely northwestern Ontario hamlet early Sunday, killing five persons, including a young mother who was injured in a desperate bid to rescue her children.

The victims were: Mrs. Kenneth Linklater, 26; her brother-in-law Alvin Linklater, 25; and her three sons, Roderick, two months, Leslie, 18 months and Albert, three.

Ontario Provincial Police said Mr. and Mrs. Linklater were driven out the front door into the snow when the fire broke out. The woman, her feet bare, ran to the rear of the dwelling, smashed a window and crawled through an attempt to reach the sleeping children. She was unsuccessful and emerged with her clothes ablaze. Police said Mrs. Linklater rolled on the ground to extinguish the flames. Then she wrapped a blanket around herself and ran through the snow, despite badly burned feet, 1 1/2 miles to the home of Warren Clark, her nearest neighbor in Ena.

District temperatures were near freezing Saturday night. Ena is a whistlestop on the Canadian National Railways mainline, 129 miles east of Winnipeg. It has no telephone or telegraph communication system.

HI-TEST POTATOES

HYDROMETER TESTED

What Is a Hydrometer-Tested Potato?

The Potato Hydrometer is an appliance which indicates the specific gravity, or the percentage of starch or dry matter in potatoes. Why all this fuss about Hydrometer and the dry matter tests? The answer is that once you know the dry matter content of a particular lot of potatoes you have a guide on how they should be cooked and served. Experience and continuous testing have proven that potatoes with a 16 to 20% dry matter are ideal for boiling and are a good all-purpose table potato. Potatoes with a 21%, or over, dry matter content are best for baking. All Local Gem Potatoes under the Hi-Test Label are Hydrometer Tested and are packed according to the test results. The B.C. Coast Vegetable Co-operative Association employs a full-time chef, in their own kitchen, who is continually testing and trying various cooking methods for local potatoes. This is done so that growers can improve their crops and the consumer can be assured of the finest quality.

POWELL RIVER SALES DROP

VANCOUVER (CP)—Net sales of Powell River Co. last year were about $67,000,000, compared with $72,400,000 in 1956, President M. J. Foley has announced.

Annual report of the news print firm will be issued in March, but in a preliminary report Mr. Foley said net earnings totalled $7,762,377 last year, compared with $10,906,108 in 1956.

ALBERTA TO CUT CASH RESERVE

EDMONTON (CP)—In the last 10 years the Alberta government, enriched by oil, has built up a huge financial reserve which now outweighs by nearly 10 to 1 a public debt reduced to its lowest point since 1918.

Less than half that reserve, now close to $300,000,000, is liquid assets. The rest, under Social Credit government policy, has been put into special loan funds to help finance a heavy backlog of municipal capital works.

That policy is to be reversed. The government, apparently considering its capital projects largely completed, plans to boost municipal grants with money previously earmarked for loan funds. Direct municipal grants totalled $80,000,000 this year.

KIMBERLEY HEADS PULP, PAPER GROUP

NEW YORK (AP)—John R. Kimberley, who heads one of the pioneer paper companies of the Middle West, has been elected president of the American Paper and Pulp Association.

A spokesman for U.S. news-print companies reported they now have enough capacity to meet all publisher requirements for the immediate future.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Confused Picture As Trading Light

The picture on the stock markets today was confused.

Trading was light with losses recorded in western oils although the rest of the market was mixed or slightly higher.

Uranium, like oils were considerably lower with losses in the latter outnumbering the gains by four to one.

Friday's decline on Wall Street was blamed for losses at London and Montreal.

AT MONTREAL prices were mixed to lower today in the early afternoon trading.

Banks were strong with Imperial Bank up 4 at 48 1/2.

Construction, steel and newsprint were mixed but base metals, utilities, pipelines and refining oils were lower.

Mines and oils were down. Penny issues held the attention and were lower generally in a six-cent range.

Industrial volume was 30,900 shares; mines and oils 282,200.

AT LONDON gilt-edged securities, one of the few recent bright spots in London dealings, recorded widespread losses today in the wake of speculative selling.

Dollar stocks were lower, following Wall Street's Friday decline.

Japanese issues were firm in a quiet foreign bond market.

Further sharp falls were taken by oil shares but South African gold resisted the downward trend. Some made small gains.

AT VANCOUVER trading was light with lower prices during the forenoon.

Quintan sold 2,500 at 20. Skeena moved 2,000 at 10. Trolja traded 1,500 at 16. Cowichan Copper moved 1,000 at 74.

Big Mining Firms Hit by B.C. Laws To Cut Activities

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Sun says three major Canadian mining companies are cutting exploration activities in B.C. this year by more than $250,000, chiefly because of unfavorable B.C. mining legislation.

It says the decrease is shown in a survey conducted by the paper among major mining concerns.

The three companies, Froisher Limited, Continental Mining Explorations and Noranda Explorations, last year spent more than $425,000 in B.C. mining activities, it says.

The Iron Ore Company of Canada is quoted as saying that it is not interested in development of mines in B.C. under present legislation.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Sale of a cargo of Canadian barley to Russia highlighted trade on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

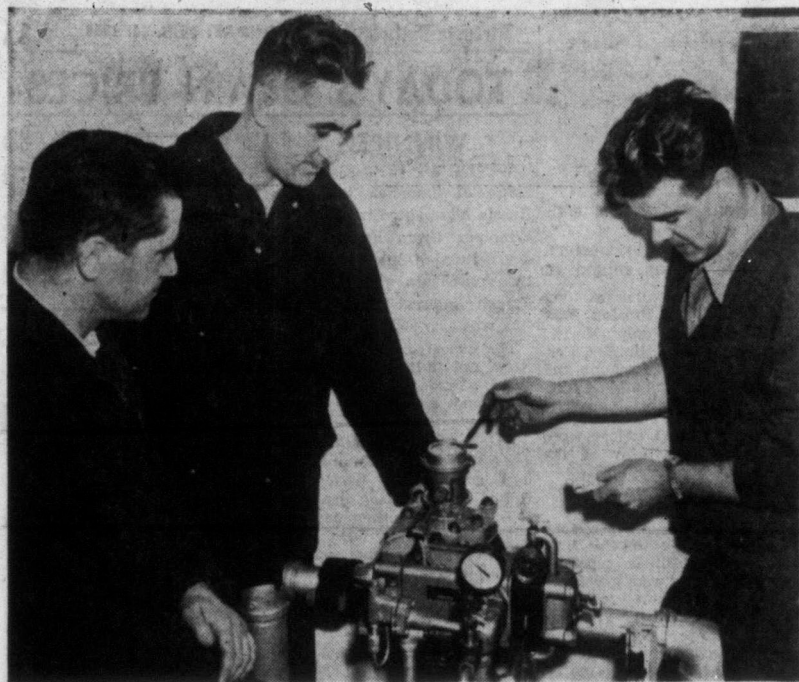

Russian interest in further purchases was indicated. French interest in Canadian flax was also reported.

The export interest and sales were not reflected in action here. Trade was generally light and most prices moved narrowly.

Oats and barley had steady domestic support. Shipper support appeared in barley and United States buying in oats.

Flax prices showed considerable hesitation in light trade. American selling appeared and export interest was low.

Kinsmen Plan Big Barbecue

CHEMAMUS—The Kinsmen Club will assist the local centennial committee during the August celebrations by staging a big outdoor salmon barbecue Aug. 23.

President Nick Malka said the club should get behind the centennial committee "and help them put over the celebration here."

The barbecue will be the big attraction on the Saturday with a salmon derby on the Sunday. Mr. Malka said the chefs who prepare the salmon for the All Sooke Day celebrations were being contacted with a view to assisting Kinsmen.

The Chemainus club will enter two rinks in the Kinsmen all-island bonspiel at Port Alberni March 1. Seven members will make an inter-club visit to the Vic-Van-Isle club of Victoria next Thursday.

Sportsmen to Use Chip Wharf Floats

CHEMAMUS—Western Forest Industries Ltd. plan to shut down their chip wharf here March 31 for an indefinite period and have offered the use of their floats to the Rod and Gun Club.

In a letter to the club the company offered the use of all the inside area and portions of the outside not used or needed by Chemainus Towing Co.

Al Dyer said it involved taking over the payment of a caretaker at $20 a month.

"We've been wanting more space for our boats for some time and this will permit us to moor many more in a safe, protected place."

"It will also provide a place for visiting yachts and small boats to tie up both on the inside and outside. It's getting now so that there isn't any room at the Government Wharf for visiting boats."

In the event the company lost its lease on the foreshore or decided to start up the chipper wharf again, they will give the club ample notice, he said.

Members accepted the offer providing ready access to the float are available over the Chemainus Towing Co. dock.

Sheep Act Not Enforced

DUNCAN—North Cowichan council last week heard complaints about the number of sheep killed in the Cowichan Valley.

One complaint said the provincial government through the RCMP was "reluctant" to enforce the Sheep Protection Act in the unorganized area.

In certain areas, dogs running wild are shot on sight as a means to stamp out inroads on sheep.

14 Women Eager To Aid Hospital

CHEMAMUS—Fourteen women are eager to join an evening branch to the Chemainus General Hospital Auxiliary. Mrs. Ken Boyd reported at the monthly meeting of the auxiliary.

They want to be a working group rather than a social club, and will meet one night a month in the hospital board room.

Cut in Assessment Granted Pulp Mill

DUNCAN (CP)—B.C. Forest Products won a substantial reduction in assessment on the Crofton pulp mill when company representatives appeared before the North Cowichan court of revision Friday.

Assessment on the $13,000,000 pulp mill is $13,000,000. North Cowichan assessors had allowed a reduction of 42 per cent on all machinery for the year 1957 because the plant was not in operation.

The company claimed that this reduction should have been applied to the total assessment, which would include the buildings and the 10-mile-long water pipeline which serves the mill.

The assessment appeal board allowed this appeal.

The company also appealed for an overall reduction of the assessment to $8,000,000, but this appeal was not allowed.

March 22 Vote On $485,734 Schools By-Law

LADYSMITH—Ratepayers of Ladysmith School District 67 will vote March 22 on a referendum bylaw authorizing a total expenditure of $485,734 on new schools and improvements to existing schools.

Of this amount $405,482 must be borrowed, and the school district will be responsible for $202,741.82 of this amount, to be raised by taxation. Provincial government will provide the balance.

Largest single item will be $180,000 to add five rooms to Chemainus Junior-Senior High School and remodel the building.

New schools are slated for South Chemainus and Arcady, and the balance will be spent on additions to existing schools, furnishings, and school sites.

It is hoped to make a start this year on the Chemainus addition. Other extensions will be delayed until warranted by the enrolment, but it is expected all will be under way within three years.

The school board based the program on a survey of enrolments over the last eight years, and a forecast of enrolments for the 1963-64 school year.

The forecast took into account only the number of pre-school children now living in the district.

Pioneer Park Sketch Plans Ready Soon

DUNCAN—Sketch plans of developments at Pioneer Park and adjacent exhibition grounds for the staging of the annual Cowichan Exhibition will be shown Cowichan Community Centre Association shortly, according to Stan Kirkham.

Mr. Kirkham, retiring president of the association that administers Pioneer Park, said the exhibition board had approved plans for a new agricultural hall, but will give priority to an administrative building and stock barns.

He gave his report at the annual meeting of the association.

"The cost of these buildings and the agricultural hall is to be part of a dollar-for-dollar agreement with the federal department of agriculture," he said. "It is our hope that the agricultural hall will prove to be the community hall and centre we so badly need."

Other improvements listed by Mr. Kirkham were the building of bleachers for Kinsmen at the Babe Ruth League ball diamond, work by Kiwanis Club on its playground project, and building by the city and North Cowichan municipality of a new sidewalk on James Street leading to the park.

My Favorite Wife and I have just finished (and I do mean finished) a discussion on the topic:

"Which way is East?"

(Never mind how we got into this discussion. The genesis of discussions between husbands and wives is invariably too inscrutable for definition.)

"One thing about me," MFV said, "I'll never get lost, because I always know which way is East."

You do? I asked, foolishly leaving the way open for further conversation.

"Of course," said MFV. "East is always to my left."

Always to your left, eh, I remarked.

"Always," repeated MFV. "No matter where I stand, East is to my left."

You are sure of this? I inquired.

"Of course I am sure," said MFV. "Look at any map, and you will see what I mean."

So I looked at any map, but I couldn't see what she meant, and I said so.

"Look more closely," said MFV, with what patience she could muster. "What do you see on the right, side of the map?"

I see a symbol "E", meaning "East," I said.

"Well, then," MFV went on, "you are FACING the map, are you not?"

"Therefore," she said, "the map is facing you. And if you were the map, the RIGHT side would be the LEFT side. And the RIGHT side is EAST on the map, so if YOU were the map, the LEFT side would be East."

Glub, I said.

"Do not look so stupid," said MFV. "Maps are always right. And on maps, East is always left."

"Oh, I said, you mean West is West and East is left, and never..."

"And never get lost," said MFV, "as long as you remember East is to your left, no matter where you stand."

How about if you are standing on the North Pole, I asked.

"Who do you think I am," said MFV, indignantly, "Santa Claus?"

No, I said.

MANY PORTS IN STORE FOR CRUISER

Homeward bound she will revisit Suva April 14, pick up a two-frigate escort at sea April 22, call at Honolulu April 24-26 and return to Esquimalt May 5.

Four Escape In Malahat Car Crash

Weekend traffic crashes injured eight persons in Greater Victoria area.

Four men escaped serious injury when their 1941 model coupe went out of control and was wrecked on a rock wall near Malahat summit at 1:40 a.m. Sunday.

Driver was identified as John Edward Jones, Sherwood Auto Court, who was admitted at Jubilee Hospital with head injuries.

With him were Michael Huber, 1532 Richmond, shoulder injury, discharged; Peter W. Roberts, 1828 St. Ann, rib and knee injuries, discharged, and a fourth man, injured slightly, who left the scene before police arrived and was not identified.

It was foggy at the time of the accident, which occurred about a half mile south of the lookout.

Mrs. Doris Housley, 24, Glen Lake, received injuries to knees and elbows and Mrs. Kathleen Carter, 30, Pickford Road, in the same car, received a head cut when a car driven by Melville D. Housley was in collision with another car at Craigflower and Admirals today at 7:45 a.m.

William Wigmore, 1424 Craddock, was identified as driver of the other car.

In other accidents were the following: Colin Campbell, 1031 Pandora, treated for shock after being in collision in a crosswalk; Lee Chan, 1713 Government, head cut in a fall from his bicycle.

The meeting will feature an address by H. Bryan Renwick, vice-president of traffic, Canadian Pacific Airlines, and a playlet written by Bert Binny and produced by Cy Porter.

Entertainers in the play include "A Touring We Shall Go," include Dianne Mathews, Valerie Parkins and four-year-old Peggy Ann Juba.

Comptroller Backs Inequality Claim

An alleged inequality in payments by the B.C. Electric for bus franchise agreements with Greater Victoria municipalities will be fully investigated by city council public works committee.

It was pointed out at City Hall today Victoria receives a smaller per capita payment than Oak Bay, Esquimalt or Saanich despite heavier usage of city roads by buses.

City comptroller Dennis A. Young confirmed the situation described by city engineer J. C. Garnett.

3 PER CENT

The agreement with all four municipalities is that the company will pay 3 per cent of the gross revenue, determined on a mileage basis within each municipality.

However, in the city's case, total taxes paid on BCER transportation buildings and property in Victoria, are deducted from the gross revenue before the percentage is applied, said Mr. Garnett.

He pointed out the deduction does not apply in the other municipalities because all BCER properties concerned are located in the city.

DROPPING

Mr. Young said revenue to the city last year from the franchise agreement was about $25,000. It has been dropping about $3,000 a year for the last four or five years, he added.

A report on the matter will be made to the committee.

The discussion followed a meeting with company officials on the proposed re-routing of Haultain buses to Bay Street due to complaints of vibrations in Haultain homes.

Council will be asked to order a $9,000 repaving of the street and enforcement of a 20-mile speed limit for all vehicles on Haultain between Fernwood and Shelbourne. Company officials opposed changing the bus route due to petitions from bus customers in the area.

It was felt, due to the nature of the land, the foundation of Haultain Street could never be suitably strengthened to halt vibrations except at a prohibitive cost. Company officials said new buses are not to blame. Due to part aluminum construction, they are lighter than old models, although of a larger capacity.

Works Board Supports Nature Haven

A recommendation that 400 acres of 1,210-acre Thetis Lake Park be set aside as a nature sanctuary was passed to city council today by public works committee.

Although not officially dedicated, the area concerned would be turned over for development to the Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association.

Under the scheme, the area would be a haven for birds, animals and native B.C. plants, and protected by law.

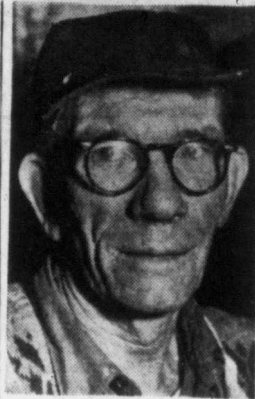

AFTER TOUR

The committee's decision followed a tour of the area Saturday.

Public works chairman, Ald. G. L. Edgelow and other civic officials spent four hours hiking in the area in company with officials of interested nature groups.

The development is supported in recent letters from Victoria Begonia Society, B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society, Victoria Horticultural Society, South Vancouver Island Rangers, Victoria Natural History Society and Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society.

The area involved does not conflict with areas set aside to be partially or completely logged.

'Hot Wire Dropped, I Started to Run'

Three persons narrowly escaped death shortly after 10 a.m. today when feeder circuit power lines blew out at the Bay Street substation of the B.C. Electric Co. Ltd.

"I was standing by the bus stop on Government when there was a terrific crash like 1,000 tons of explosives," said W.A. Snyder, 2424 Wark. "A hot wire dropped within a couple of feet of me. I started to run."

The lines carried 4,000 volts.

The explosion and flashing flames lasted about three seconds and travelled along lines at least 100 yards.

The wires were down all over the intersection.

Mrs. W. M. Kinnis, 40 Gorge Road, said: "I heard a noise like a cannon and saw a huge ball of fire. Pieces of the line fell beside me. It sure was a scare."

Bill Di Castri, 4025 Borden, in a nearby building thought the power station had blown up.

"I saw the woman (Mrs. Kinnis) running down the street. The poor woman was terrified."

E. W. Britt, 570 Bay, was working in his front yard when the blast took place.

A wire came down across the street narrowly missing an army truck going towards Government.

"I thought the driver had had it. I've never seen a man put on his brakes so fast."

Smoke covered the area and power poles were still smouldering 15 minutes after the circuit break.

50 ASK PRIVATE INTERVIEWS

Packed Churches Hear U.K. Doctor

By DINAH KERR

Victorians, sick and well, are clamoring to see Dr. Christopher Woodard, London doctor who believes in the power of prayer to cure "incurable" disease, following his addresses at two jam-packed churches Sunday.

At least 50 have asked for private interviews, Mrs. W. H. Hughes, secretary of the Lessons in Living Group, said today.

The interdenominational religious group arranged his speaking engagements here.

Dr. Woodard was to see Dr. Anne Steel at Royal Jubilee Hospital today. Dr. Steel has been in a coma for 21 months following a riding accident at Osoyoos, B.C., in May of 1954.

He plans to see her daily before leaving Thursday. "But I certainly won't see her unless the spirit moves me," he said Sunday.

Curious, Hopeful

The curious and the hopeful flocked to St. John's Anglican church Sunday morning to hear Dr. Woodard give the sermon. He spoke that night at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church to a sitting and standing congregation.

At St. John's latecomers were directed to the church hall where they heard the sermon over a public address system.

The 44-year-old doctor maintained that no disease is incurable.

"I stand up here before you unashamedly as a doctor who believes in the teaching of Jesus," he said. "Nothing on this earth could undermine my trust in God. I believe in the absolute healing power of Christ."

"We Do Not Look"

The "awful part" is, he said, that people are so lacking in faith that they do not see the healing effects of prayer.

"It is bold, presumptuous and wicked to say that because we don't see it, that it's not there to see," Dr. Woodard said. "In the rush and bustle of human life, we do not look to see."

Unbelievers have made a "terrifying mockery" of Christ.

"Jesus has said we could be free from sickness and sin," he said, "yet we break His every law. Is it surprising we seem to have more disease, particularly of the mind, than ever before?"

The doctor, who objects to being called a "faith healer," said he believes absolutely in the miracles of Christ.

"Absolute Truths"

"You do believe Jesus walked on water, don't you?" he asked. "You do believe he raised Lazarus from the dead?"

Whether believed or not, these are "absolute truths," the doctor said.

"Jesus can at any moment of any day take any of you or me walking on the water... Either you believe all he taught or you might just as well go grow potatoes and forget everything he said."

Dr. Woodard told the congregation he had seen a dying child "instantly healed by no

About 30 per cent of Victoria's downtown business area lost power for 20 minutes.

Company officials said the blast was caused by a circuit fire, probably occasioned by wet weather conditions which made a short circuit.

The wires were down all over the intersection.

Mrs. W. M. Kinnis, 40 Gorge Road, said: "I heard a noise like a cannon and saw a huge ball of fire. Pieces of the line fell beside me. It sure was a scare."

Mrs. Annie Fairweather Moresby, 69, a native of Greenock, Scotland, and resident here since 1911, died in hospital Sunday after a lengthy illness.

Surviving are the widower, William C. Moresby, QC, of 624 Trutch Street; a son, William J. Dawson Creek; three daughters, Mrs. William D. Streper, Otter Park, B.C.; Mrs. Stephen C. Kershaw, Vancouver; and Miss Mary Moresby, Victoria.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 3:15 at Hayward's chapel, with Rev. T. Haythorne officiating, and will be followed by cremation.

Seaman Accused

Of Breaking

Into Gorge Home

A 22-year-old naval seaman, charged in Saanich police court today with breaking into a dwelling house with intent to commit an offence, was granted a remand without plea to Thursday.

Garry Wayne Mitchell asked for time to obtain legal counsel.

Police said a man broke into the home of James Stobie, 500 Gorge West, where Mrs. Stobie and her 2-year-old daughter slept, at 4 a.m. Sunday.

Newspaper Headlines Scored by Clergyman

Rev. Richard James Welsh, vicar of St. David's-by-the-Sea, called on his parishioners Sunday to register a "very strong protest" against headlines in local newspapers.

The attack is directed at "the apparent lack of manners shown by the local press in referring to offices and positions of dignity in the community."

Mr. Welsh, a former newspaperman with British United Press, referred in particular to a Times' story about Archbishop Harold E. Sexton, Saturday.

The front-page headline read "Sexton to Preach in Abbey."

"Geoff crowns Bess," the vicar said.

He also scored newspapers for referring to Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross in headlines as "Ross."

MORE RESPECT

"Some other designation should go in to suggest that 'Ross' is something other than the village blacksmith," he said.

Mr. Welsh said newspapers have a "responsibility to show a certain respect to those to whom respect is due."

"Quite a few people" had already protested the headlines, he said, and a "flood" of letters will be sent to both papers.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Color and monochrome competitions will be held by Victoria Camera Club at a meeting in the Art Gallery Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. New officers elected at the recent annual meeting are Roy Wray, president; Sam Marling, vice-president; Dora Payne, secretary; Harry Webster, treasurer, and D. C. Wyatt, director.

B.C. highway traffic fatalities increased 50 per cent in January 1958 over the same month a year ago. Of the 21 who died last month, 12 were pedestrians. Drunkenness, jaywalking, icy roads and wearing of dark clothing while walking on roadways, contributed to most of these deaths, according to provincial motor vehicle branch statistics.

Victoria Prayer Healing study group will meet at Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall Wednesday at 3 p.m.

A movie entitled "With Ski and Rope" will be presented by Hans Gmoser in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The film lecture is sponsored by the Victoria Sno-Birds Ski Club.

Hermannus H. Baanstra, 21, of 610 Pine, was fined $75 in city police court today for supplying liquor to minors.

He pleaded guilty to the charge last week.

Police said Baanstra was the owner of some beer being consumed in a car parked in a school yard.

The minors were a boy 18, and two girls 16 and 18.

A quantity of explosive, 12 magnesium flares and a number of railroad torpedoes were stolen Saturday from a caboose in the E & N railway yard, city police were told.

CPR police said the caboose had been broken into, apparently some time during the day.

Two teen-aged boys stole a statue of Buddha in a daylight raid in Chinatown Saturday noon.

Mrs. Yick, of Yick Fung Dry Goods store, 1605 Government, told police the boys came into her store, took a 5½-inch statue of the oriental god from a counter and ran off on Cormorant Street.

She described the two as 14 or 15 years old, one wearing a black leather jacket, the other a white Indian sweater.

The Buddha was valued at $8.95.

A house full of smoke awoke S. Witowski, 802 Bay, at 5:50 a.m. Sunday, but no cause was evident.

Firemen and police subsequently cleared up the mystery when they found two neighborhood brothers aged 7 and 9 had been playing under the house Saturday with candles and sacking.

Apparently the sacking ignited and smouldered through the night, causing smoke to sift through the flooring.

"WIDOWHOOD" The Lonely Road

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

This is the eleventh of a series of articles frankly written in order to be of service to the four out of five wives who one day will face widowhood.

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON CHAPTER II

She still is a Mrs. She still wears a wedding ring, uses her husband's last name, cares for his children and maintains his household. But her husband is gone and the widow is not the same to society or her friends.

Plunging into a world of singletons after having lived happily within the social security of marriage is one of the most difficult phases a widow must face. The younger she is, the harder it is for her to console herself to the doors now closed to her.

That she has new rules to follow in order to maintain her good name is also somewhat of a shock to her.

I called a friend, an appliance man, to have him repair my washing machine as he had done on many an occasion when my husband was alive. He said, "I'll be right over . . . or as soon as my wife gets home so that she can come with me. I wouldn't want your neighbors to misunderstand."

THOUGHT IT FUNNY

It had never occurred to me that they would! That time I thought his attitude was hilariously funny.

Me A spider with a web of intrigue? The husband of a high school girl friend of mine telephoned while on business in town. I hadn't heard from him in 14 years. "Come home with me to dinner," I offered. How many times in our marriage had my husband and I both brought anyone we had happened to meet during the day home for dinner?

But he hesitated, embarrassed until I hastened to add that my mother was visiting with me and that it would be perfectly proper.

Suddenly my new position

did not seem very funny. Stupid, naive me! I would have to learn all over again that the code of conduct for a single woman is different as the world is for her. I would have to get used to being a singleton even though I still think of myself as very much married.

There have been plenty of reminders of the closed doors, which I cannot open the rest of my life unless I am in the company of a man. "If you can get a date, please come to our party," carefully qualify some of my married friends.

On my vacation to New York there were restaurants I could not visit, landmarks I could not see, formal openings I could not attend because I was a lone female traveler.

Worse than that, I suddenly was aware of hundreds of chic, smart, and desperately lonely career women who banded together like a pack of wolves, hunting, hunting, hunting a man.

I discovered they settle for much less than they would have if they were younger, simply to have companionship, not particularly romance. Some of them drift into fruitless affairs, or compromise with a refined sort of gigoloism just to have a man in their lives, however temporarily.

Would I someday become one of these frantic, ugly women, I wondered? It was a frightening possibility to face.

"You will marry again after your wounds have healed," my friends, even my husband's relatives, insist. Some well-meaning ones have tried match-making, which is flattering to me, but embarrassing. I object to being placed in the role of a husband hunter, simply because I do not have one.

Statistically, the chances are 17 to one that I, a widow under 35 with children will not marry again. For women over that age the national statistic ratio is even greater. There are more reasons for this than the shortage of men and the responsibility of children.

Women, as well as men past 30, are less willing, less able to adjust to another pattern of life. Some, such as I, would not give up established careers to begin again as a bride. And some are more particular about the educational backgrounds, earning capacities than they might have been during their normal teen-and-twenty court-ing days.

GRATEFUL

Frankly, I am grateful and satisfied with the 11 years of happy married life I had, well aware that I am better off than those who have never been married at all, and far better off than those who have been married without finding happiness.

Today I am too busy to care about the world of pairs to which I no longer belong. And tomorrow I'm going to be that busy, too.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Look Around—You Can Give Love and Service

Love is woman's best chance for happiness, for finding life warm and deeply satisfying. No career can make up for lack of this, no matter how successful or exciting it may be.

The love for a husband and children is the ideal one for a woman; but if she lacks this there are many other ways for loving and serving which feed this deep need in her. This is woman's forte and when she deserts it she is frustrated in an important way.

If she approaches life with a warmhearted attitude, she will find opportunities for love all about her. There always are people to be helped and encouraged in everyday life no matter where you live. There are philanthropies and groups of children and young people, and the ill—all need your time and energy and, even more, your heart. Service which has personal contact is most valuable for those who are aided and for the woman herself.

Marriage and love are gambles. Once you become wholly involved in matters of Practically everyone responds to a truly generous love. If a woman can forget herself and love with confidence, without suspicion or sensitiveness, because she is investing herself entirely in another, it will affect her marriage in a hundred subtle ways and wipe the slate clean of many of the mistakes which kill romance in marriage.

Besides this, such an investment is some insurance against hurt because the reward is certain; namely, the opportunity to live wholeheartedly. With this attitude it always will have been worthwhile, no matter what happens.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Keeping Romance Alive," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 63. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

U.K. to Control
Missile Bases

LONDON (AP)—Defence Minister Duncan Sandys announced today that the Anglo-American pact setting up rocket bases in Britain provides "that the missiles shall not be launched except by a joint, positive decision of both governments."

Sandys told a gravely attentive House of Commons:

"The nuclear warheads will remain in American custody and will be kept in an unarmoured condition so that there can be no risk of a nuclear explosion and the weapon is designed in such a way that it would be impossible for it to be launched accidentally."

Cries of "shame" came from the Labor benches when the minister announced the rocket bases will be mainly in East Anglia, Lincolnshire and Yorkshire on the English east coast. Sandys added:

"It would obviously not be in the public interest to disclose the number of missiles, or the number of sites or their precise location."

FOUR IRBM BASES

It has been generally understood that the agreement provides for the establishment first of four bases for intermediate-range ballistic missiles.

Sandys said the rockets will be deployed "in small numbers on dispersed sites, mostly on active or disused Royal Air Force airfields." He went on:

"The United States will supply the missiles and specialized equipment at their expense, and

Peron Helps Elect
Argentina President

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Gaunt, bespectacled Arturo Frondizi, a leftwing intellectual, is the new president-elect of Argentina. The support of banished dictator Juan D. Peron apparently was a decisive factor in his landslide victory.

Frondizi ran far ahead of middle-of-the-roader Ricardo Balbin Sunday in Argentina's first free presidential election in more than a decade. Nine other opponents trailed far behind.

Both are lawyers and represent left and right wings of the Radical party—a conservative group despite its name.

Frondizi's wing apparently collected votes from many of the strong-arm segments of Argentina's political spectrum. His backers ranged from Communists to labor to Peronists and Fascist splinter parties.

With more than 8,000,000 Argentines voting, unofficial figures early today gave Frondizi 1,434,773 votes, Balbin 892,133.

During his campaign Frondizi pledged amnesty for all Peronists. He never specifically included Peron, but his statement raised speculation as to whether Frondizi would let the banished dictator return.

Frondizi said Sunday night the first job of the new Congress would be to enact a general amnesty law covering all parties and including those now in jail for their politics.

From his current refuge in the Dominican Republic, Peron today hailed Frondizi's victory as the result of the support he gave him. Peron said he would consider a return to his homeland, but planned a trip "to rest" first. He did not elaborate.

Bennett
To Boost
UBC FundMatching Grants
Up to $10 Million

By PETER MURRAY
Times Legislative Reporter

Provincial government will increase its matching capital grants to the University of British Columbia to a total of $10,000,000, Premier Bennett announced today.

The premier made the announcement at a raucous meeting on the UBC campus attended by some 1,200 hooting and hollering students in the auditorium.

Hundreds more turned away heard the hour-long meeting broadcast at other parts of the campus.

Originally the provincial government agreed to match $5,000,000 put up in private donations, later raised it to $7,500,000 and now has increased it again.

Donations received to date total some $6,000,000.

The premier was interrupted constantly by the yelling students during his 30-minute speech and 20-minute question period. Twice he asked the public address system operator to turn up his volume so he would be heard.

There has been much talk in the last 50 years of such a step, he told a press conference Sunday, but little has been achieved. The reason, he suggested, is that many a campaigner would be reluctant to make contributions to political parties if every contribution came under the public eye.

Mr. Pearson answered reporters' questions for about an hour after arriving at Vancouver airport to a rousing reception by party supporters.

BIG RALLY TONIGHT

The welcomers swarmed over the tarmac bearing placards, pennants and banners in support of the Liberal party. Shouts of "We want Mike!" went up from the crowd. Mr. Pearson opens his big rally here tonight, the first in an eight-day tour of the four western provinces.

The Liberals face an uphill battle in this province. They held only two of British Columbia's 22 seats in the last Parliament. The Progressive Conservatives and CCF each held seven and the Social Credit six.

Mr. Pearson told reporters he was encouraged by the "large and enthusiastic" meetings he held in Ontario. There would be no stalemate in the next Parliament. The Liberals would come through to win.

Then as he plunged into replies on entangled election issues, he indicated he was in favor of competition in Canada's air transportation service, with some reservations, and suggested Prime Minister Diefenbaker was not the first to propose an emergency United Nations police force for the Middle East.

On other points he left some

City Tug, Tow
Ride Out Storm

The Victoria salvage tug Ss. Sudbury this morning was hove to in a whole gale about 400 miles west of Vancouver Island with a crippled freighter in tow.

Her master, Capt. Harley Blagborne, reported by radio telephone at 8 a.m. today that tug and tow were riding out the storm before starting the tow to sheltered waters.

Winds of about 50 miles an hour constitute a whole gale. The freighter, Ss. Lomaland, wireless for aid Saturday when her engines broke down and she began to drift helplessly. The tug left at 1:15 p.m. Saturday, reached the freighter and put a towline aboard late Sunday afternoon. But seas were too high for towing.

The ship will be taken either to Victoria or Vancouver for repairs. She is of Liberian registry, and was inbound for Vancouver to lift a cargo of lumber. Seaboard Shipping is agent.

The Sudbury is the tug which made headlines in 1955 with the 3,500-mile tow of the Greek freighter Makedonia.

Auto Race Called Off;
Rebels Kidnap Champ

HAVANA (AP)—Havana's Gran Premio auto race was called off soon after it started Monday because of what the National Sports Commission called rebel sabotage.

Juan Manuel Fangio, world champion racing driver who was kidnapped Sunday night by rebels, was still missing when the race started.

Shortly after the first laps, five racing cars skidded on the course narrowly avoiding plunging into the crowded stands.

Spokesmen for the sports commission said a preliminary investigation indicated rebels had spread oil over the race course.

One car driven by a Cuban plunged off the course into crowded stands, injuring a number of persons. The crowd at the track had been told before the start of the race that Fangio had been released and was being brought to the track. But when he did not appear by the start of the race, belief mounted that the rebels had decided to hold on to him a while longer.

A rebel attempt to kidnap a second race driver was reported to have been made against Britain's ace, Stirling Moss.

Eversfield Says
Took Documents
For Protection

VANCOUVER (CP)—A chief Crown witness in the Sommers bribery-conspiracy hearing said today his main reason in seizing documents which now form part of the Crown's case was to protect his own position in any investigation.

Charles Eversfield, who took the documents from the offices of Pacific Coast Services Limited when he left their employ in 1955, said he had not promised anyone that he would or would not give evidence before the Sloan Royal Commission on forest management licences later that year.

"But you felt you could clinch any case brought against your employers," said Alfred Bull, Q.C. one of eight defence lawyers in the case.

Former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, three other individuals and four companies are charged in the case. Eversfield replied that he did not.

FEARED 'PRESSURE'

He said he thought he might find himself "under pressure" about what to say, because there was apprehension in Pacific offices about the uncovering of alleged illegal operations.

"I recall that once H. W. Gray looked me square in the eye and said that if 'I go down everyone goes with me.'"

J. R. Nicholson, another of the defence counsel, said that Mr. Eversfield, now on the stand for the fifth day, had "told his story" at least 12 or 13 times, but not once had he mentioned any conversations he might have had with J.M. Gray, sales manager for the Pacific company.

John Gray is one of Mr. Nicholson's clients. Mr. Eversfield said he had never been in conversation with J. M. Gray, but "I do know that he fully understood the situation."

Earlier the 46-year-old accountant testified that he had received a total of some $1,400 in expense money and loans from Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy between 1955 and 1957.

ALL FROM STURDY

He said it all came from Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy. He said some $250 or $300 was given him to meet expenses from Los Angeles to Vancouver late in 1955 when he returned with a trunk full of documents taken earlier in the year from the offices of Pacific Coast Services Limited here.

He said Sturdy gave him perhaps another $400 to meet daily expenses while in Vancouver in 1955 and advanced a total of another $700 in 1957 part of it as a loan.

It was Mr. Eversfield's seizure of documents from Pacific offices where he was employed as bookkeeper between 1951 and 1955 that started an RCMP investigation leading to charges last November against former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, three other individuals and four companies.

SEEN BY GIBSON

Eversfield, on the stand for the fifth day in preliminary hearing before Magistrate Oscar Orr, said the documents were seen by Mr. Sturdy in Los Angeles and later gone over in Vancouver by Sturdy and Gordon Gibson, wealthy B.C. lumberman.

Under cross-examination by Alfred Bull, one of eight defence counsel, Eversfield said he did not know whether Mr. Gibson had supplied any of the funds given him by Sturdy.

Mr. Sommers resigned his portfolio in 1956 but still sits as Social Credit member of the legislature for Rossland-Trail. Charged with him are C. D. Schultz H. W. Gray, John Gray, the C. D. Schultz Co. Ltd., Pacific Coast Services, Evergreen Lumber Sales Ltd. and B.C. Forest Products.

The Crown charges that while minister Mr. Sommers accepted some $15,000 in bribes for issuance of certain forest management licences. It alleges a conspiracy for a three-way split of certain funds among Sommers and the Pacific and Schultz companies.

Eversfield told of going to

WEDS MANAGER

Gisele Starred
In Bridal Role

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Manitoba-born singer Gisele MacKenzie, 31, and her personal manager, Robert Shuttleworth, 44, formerly of Toronto, were married here early today.

They flew from Hollywood with a small party of friends after midnight.

The ceremony was performed by district court judge Frank McNamee in a penthouse suite of the Flamingo Hotel.

Miss MacKenzie, born in Winnipeg, wore a gown of pale blue satin with gold flecks, a matching hat and gold slippers. Shuttleworth wore a dark blue business suit.

Maurice Kessler, a Toronto businessman, was best man. Mrs. Axel Sjordahl was the bride's attendant.

FIRST FOR GISELE

This was the first marriage for Miss MacKenzie. Shuttleworth's previous marriage ended in divorce in 1950.

The couple said they had been considering marriage a long time but definitely decided only last Saturday night.

They plan to honeymoon here two days. They will live in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Shuttleworth first met her during the Second World War when he was serving with the Royal Canadian Navy. He persuaded her to sing at a naval function. After the war he organized a dance band and signed Miss MacKenzie as his singer.

Miss MacKenzie starred on several CBC programs before coming to the United States. She starred on the television show, Your Hit Parade, before starting her own show last September.

It has been reported that the show's sponsors are dropping it in April because of production clashes between Shuttleworth, the show's producer and the sponsors themselves.

doubt in reporters' minds whether he would favor free and open competition with the publicly-owned CBC's television outlets and shied away from stating a view on the pricing of Canada's natural gas in Canada and the United States.

His greatest elaboration was on the Nobel peace prize issue. Progressive Conservative cabinet ministers claim Prime Minister Diefenbaker was the first to suggest the emergency UN police force for the Middle East, a proposal, they maintain, which Mr. Pearson took for his own and thus earned the 1957 peace prize.

That was not so, Mr. Pearson said. No persons and no country had any monopoly on the suggestion of a UN police force. Former prime minister St. Laurent, however, was almost the first to suggest it before the United Nations back in 1946 or 1947. Mr. Diefenbaker made his proposal in 1956.

TRIED FOR YEARS

For years the Liberal government's UN delegation had tried to get the UN to set up a permanent police force to prevent little wars from growing into big ones. Even when Mr. Diefenbaker made his proposal in the Commons in 1956, Mr. Pearson replied at that time that he already had discussed it with the UN secretary-general, but was told that the Middle East powers and other countries would not support it.

And when he sought to have the proposal discussed at a Commons external affairs committee meeting, none of the Conservative members participated in the discussion and Mr. Diefenbaker did not even appear.

The Canadian delegation at the UN finally got member countries to agree to the temporary police force for the Middle East after the Suez flare-up. Mr. Pearson said he wasn't satisfied with the temporary arrangement. As prime minister he would press for a permanent police body in his drive for peace.

Replying to other questions, he declined to state party policy on the matter of introducing private competition with CBC television outlets. He would have to discuss the question with his colleagues in the light of the Fowler commission report which he considered a "pretty impressive document." He would not go further than that.

LIKES COMPETITION

But generally he believed in economic competition. He observed that in connection with the publicly-owned TCA's monopoly on transcontinental air transport, Transport Minister George Hees had qualified a Conservative decision to end TCA's monopoly gradually.

That was "all right" with Mr. Pearson. He did not want competition introduced to the point where, for example, TCA and Canadian Pacific Airlines might both flounder. The measures of competition could best be decided by the air transport board.

A Liberal government, he said, would review the 20-per-cent advertising tax on Canadian editions of foreign magazines. The tax was imposed by the former Liberal administration and, so far, retained by the Conservatives as a measure of protection for Canadian magazines facing foreign competition.

Reporters asked whether the Liberals would do anything about the fact Canadians on the west coast appear to be paying more for natural gas than Americans who get the gas from the same Canadian pipeline. That, said Mr. Pearson, was a matter before the Borden energy commission and he didn't want to get into that controversy unless he had to.

But he indicated he would have something to say about the natural gas situation when he starts campaigning in Alberta later this week.

Sturdy for legal advice in 1955 over his plan to go to Los Angeles with the photostats and other documents in a trunk.

NOTHING UNLAWFUL

He said Mr. Sturdy told him there would be no customs violation in this action as the documents would be regarded as personal papers, and further that he did not think Eversfield was doing anything unlawful by keeping quiet as to what the documents contained.

Eversfield said the Vancouver lawyer advised him that if he had taken valuable and essential papers from Pacific offices he could be accused of stealing, but not in the case of the papers which he had actually taken.

"In other words you've got a clean bill of health," said Mr. Bull.

"I got clarification of points that had bothered me," replied Eversfield.

Eversfield said Sturdy got in touch with him in Los Angeles late in 1955 and with the lawyer's help he prepared the first of two statutory declarations in connection with evidence contained in the documents. Sturdy then paid his fare to Vancouver where the documents were put before Gordon Gibson, then Liberal MLA for Lillooet.

Mr. Bull asked the witness whether he knew Mr. Gibson's interest in the case was the same as that of the Western Forest Management Association which thought no private forest management licences should be issued.

Mr. Eversfield replied that he didn't recall that.

Heroic Mother, 3 Tots Victims of Cabin Fire

ENA, Ont. (CP)—Fire roared through a one-storey log cabin at this lonely northwestern Ontario hamlet early Sunday, killing five persons, including a young mother who was injured in a desperate bid to rescue her children.

The victims were: Mrs. Kenneth Linklater, 26; her brother-in-law Alvin Linklater, 25; and her three sons, Roderick, two months, Leslie, 18 months and Albert, three.

Ontario Provincial Police said Mr. and Mrs. Linklater were driven out the front door into the snow when the fire broke out. The woman, her feet bare, ran to the rear of the dwelling, smashed a window and crawled through in an attempt to reach the sleeping children.

She was unsuccessful and emerged with her clothes ablaze.

Police said Mrs. Linklater rolled on the ground to extinguish the flames. Then she wrapped a blanket around herself and ran through the snow, despite badly burned feet, 1 1/4 miles to the home of Warren Clark, her nearest neighbor in Ena.

District temperatures were near freezing Saturday night.

Ena is a whistletown on the Canadian National Railway's mainline, 129 miles east of Winnipeg. It has no telephone or telegraph communication system.

Mr. Clark and another man placed the injured woman in their home and returned to the Linklater home. It had been destroyed and Mr. Linklater was lying injured in the snow. They took him to the Clark home.

The men then flagged a CNR freight train and placed the injured persons on board for a six-mile journey to Redditt.

Harry Prystie of Ena went ahead to inform police of the fire and arrange for an ambulance to take the young couple 25 miles to Kenora hospital.

Mrs. Linklater died three hours after reaching hospital. Mr. Linklater was reported to be in good condition.

STORK BEATS SHOWER-GIVERS; BROUGHT BOY BEFORE PARTY

EAST PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Mrs. Rose Branco, 27, planned a stork shower Sunday for her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Paolucci. But Mrs. Branco wasn't present. About an hour before the party, Mrs. Branco was taken to a hospital where she gave birth to a boy.

HI-TEST POTATOES

HYDROMETER TESTED

What Is a Hydrometer-Tested Potato?

The Potato Hydrometer is an appliance which indicates the specific gravity, or the percentage of starch or dry matter in potatoes. Why all this fuss about Hydrometer and the dry matter tests? The answer is that once you know the dry matter content of a particular lot of potatoes you have a guide on how they should be cooked and served. Experience and continuous testing have proven that potatoes with a 16 to 20% dry matter are ideal for boiling and are a good all-purpose table potato. Potatoes with a 21% or over, dry matter content are best for baking. All Local Gem Potatoes under the Hi-Test Label are Hydrometer Tested and are packed according to the test results. The B.C. Coast Vegetable Co-operative Association employs a full-time chef, in their own kitchen, who is continually testing and trying various cooking methods for local potatoes. This is done so that growers can improve their crops and the consumer can be assured of the finest quality.

'Time Run Out' On Power Needs

KELOWNA — Time to meet the British Columbia's fast growing power needs "has already run out," Charles W. Nash, director of load development for the B.C. Power Commission said here Saturday.

Addressing the Kelowna and District Rod and Gun Club, he said that if the price of fish, "which is now a luxury" was to preclude economic hydro development, everyone would be forced to pay the price in power.

He urged his audience to think of fishery interests and power resources as "fish and power" rather than "fish or power."

"You can only hope to realize your best interests if you ensure that the various resource components of your rivers are considered in their relative importance to the general economy," this principle should mean, he went on, that the province can have most of the fish and most of the power potential of the rivers, "and not just either one to the total exclusion of the other."

He said if power did not come from an economic source, it would have to come from an uneconomic source.

INEFFICIENT Already, he said, "we are now moving into a program to produce energy by burning up our valuable hydrocarbon fossil fuels in what is a most inefficient and wasteful use of a natural resource."

Mr. Nash stated that power developments totalling $2,500 horsepower on the Sprout and Stamp Rivers on Vancouver Island were being delayed pending results of investigation of fisheries protection.

"The output of these plants is urgently required by the commission," he listed a number of power developments which he claimed had been hindered or stopped because of consideration for a small fishery which did not compare in importance with the size or importance of the power project.

Of the 10,000,000 horsepower needed in B.C. in the next 20 years, the Columbia River can supply one-quarter, he said. This leaves 7,500,000 horsepower which could be developed "if it were not for fish."

"B.C. takes about 1 per cent of the world's fish catch. At our door is the world's largest ocean, from which North America takes only 3 per cent of the world's catch. The Asians take 30 per cent of the world catch from the same ocean."

"If we are really worried about our fish supplies, there in the ocean is a huge source of protein available if we develop methods for harvesting it."

Two Sent to Jail At Campbell River

CAMPBELL RIVER — Two men were sentenced Friday when they appeared before Magistrate P. E. Lewis in police court here.

Norman McPhee will serve nine months for theft of a saw from a building contractor, and an additional three months for thefts from the government wharf here and at Elk Falls mill.

David Edward Anderson was sentenced to six months definite and nine months indeterminate in the Young Offenders' Unit for breaking and entering Campbell River High School.

42 Scholarships to Mark Insurance Firm Centenary

Forty-two university scholarships are being issued across Canada this year by the New York Life Insurance Co. to mark the 100th year since the company was established in Canada.

Announcement was made here jointly by James A. Forsythe, Vancouver supervisor of Western Canadian offices, and Victoria manager, Jack Lahnigan.

To be split on a regional basis, two scholarships will be allocated for B.C.

First New York Life policy sold in Canada was Feb. 23, 1858, to Toronto lawyer William Marling. Agent was J. Leander Starr.

Thirty scholarships will be issued high school students, and the remainder to university students.

In the high school bracket, the awards will be $350, $200 and $100 and in the university classification, $500 each, with an additional $500 granted the national winners.

Chosen by Saturday Review as "Businessman of the Year," New York Life board chairman D. C. Josephs will likely be in Victoria in the early fall, at which time he will participate in the province's centennial celebrations.

In 1955 he served as chairman of a Ford Foundation committee which advised on distribution of $260,000,000 to colleges, hospitals and medical schools. New York Life is the world's fourth largest insurance company with assets over $6-billion. There were about $70 million in policy sales in Canada in 1957, and the company has $130 million invested in this country.

TWO YOUNGSTERS SAFE AFTER NIGHT ON MOUNT

HOPE (CP) — Two Hope teenagers, Richard Webster, 16, and Arlene Keim, 14, who spent Sunday night in rain on the side of 4,000-foot Mount Ogilvie, walked out safely today.

They had been the object of an intensive search by civilians and the RCAF. A witness said the couple "felt fine" this morning. "It got late and they thought it would be more sensible to spend the night on the mountain rather than attempt to get down," she said.

At a Democratic money-raising dinner in his honor Saturday night Truman lashed out at the Eisenhower administration.

U.S. Satellite Radio Sparks Back to Life

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The high-powered radio transmitter on the U.S. satellite Explorer has inexplicably come to life after apparently dying on Feb. 12.

Dr. Henry L. Richter, Jr., electronics supervisor for the lab, said signals have been picked up at the nearby tracking station in Temple City, in Illinois, Cuba and other places. Richter said that while scientists lack factual knowledge, they have developed theories for the radio signal's rebirth.

One is that the satellite orbited the high-powered transmitter was in such a position that it received no heat from the sun and froze. As the Explorer continued its flight the position of the satellite changed and the sun's heat thawed out the transmitter.

Experts Probe Mystery Tracks On Ocean Floor

NEW YORK (AP) — About 400 miles from the North Pole there are tracks on the ocean floor. Nobody knows how they got there or how long they have been there.

The mysterious tracks—7,000 feet below the surface—were turned up by Columbia University scientists making the first photographs of the ocean bottom in the central polar region.

Some have called them "chicken tracks," for want of a better name.

"Tracks like that, if made by sea snails, would have a burrow at one end and a snail at the other—only this time there is nothing," said Dr. Kenneth Hunkins, a geophysicist at the university's Lamont geological observatory, Palisades, N.Y.

"We don't know what they are," Hunkins said, "although there is marine life up there."

Hardy researchers, led by Columbia scientists, took the photographs while drifting on an Arctic ice pack. The photographic method was developed by Dr. Edward M. Thorndike, research associate in geology at the observatory.

A 35-millimetre camera, carrying its own light source, is enclosed in a metal container built to withstand the tremendous pressure of the ocean depths. It is lowered through a hole in the ice at the end of a wire. When the camera hits the ocean floor, the impact triggers the light and the camera shutter.

Big Nuclear Bomb Exploded by Russ

WASHINGTON (UP) — Russia exploded a large nuclear weapon Sunday, the U.S. government has reported. Japanese reports led to speculation it might have been an upper atmosphere or out-in-space test of an intercontinental missile with an H-bomb warhead.

The official U.S. announcement, like most previous American disclosures of Soviet nuclear blasts, was brief and said little. The one-paragraph statement said:

"Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), stated that the Soviets had conducted a nuclear weapons test today (Sunday) in Soviet territory. The yield of the test was in the megaton range." (A megaton is the equivalent of one million tons of TNT.)

The report did not indicate whether the test was an atomic or hydrogen weapon.

Japanese scientists, who first reported word of Red nuclear test, said later the device had the same power as a "new design" hydrogen bomb the Russians tested last Oct. 6.

'LACK OF PUBLIC INTEREST'

Recreation Council Officially Folded

Recreation Council of Greater Victoria was formally dissolved at a meeting of the board last week.

Lack of public interest or official authority were given as reasons for the action.

The group has been inactive for two years, but between 1946 and 1956 it pioneered various fields of recreation which still function in the district.

These include the Sports Council, the first two 60-Up Groups, a Christmas Carol Festival, which since has been taken over by the Lions.

The Recreation Council assisted with a drive for playlots, and ran backyard playground competitions. The group also spearheaded a campaign for a civic auditorium and setting up of a recreation commission, among other projects.

"For these things, the people of this area just did not seem ready," a statement issued by the board points out.

Electricians Standing Pat On Pay Issue

No move towards settlement of a dispute, involving 120 electrical workers here, has been made by either side following a strike vote taken two weeks ago.

Jack Driscoll, business agent for Local 230, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said today "everybody's still standing pat."

A total of 1,300 IBEW members in Vancouver and Victoria voted for strike action to back demands for wage increases of up to 20 per cent. The Victoria members are employed by B.C. Electric Co. and Hume and Rumble Ltd.

Mr. Driscoll said if negotiations resume they will be conducted in Vancouver. If negotiations are not re-opened, a strike can be called on 48 hours' notice to the companies.

Linesmen, comprising the largest category of workers, earn $2.41 to $2.49 at present.

Saanich Asks Pearkes' Aid On Army Hut

Assistance of Defence Minister Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, has been requested by Saanich municipality in efforts to obtain an army hut from Camp Gordon Head.

Reeve Arthur Ash said Saturday purchase of a building "at a nominal sum" is sought to provide a temporary office addition to the municipal hall. Municipal engineer Neville Life and building inspector John Taylor last week inspected camp buildings that would not be needed by Victoria College if it should move its campus to the area.

The move was made following a recommendation by the council's special committee seeking a temporary solution to the problem of overcrowding at Royal Oak.

70 Expected At Ordaining

Dr. Kenneth M. King will be ordained at St. John's Anglican Church Wednesday morning by Archbishop Harold E. Sexton.

The service at 10.30 will be attended by more than 70 Anglican priests and their wives.

Canon A. J. Jackson, chairman of the information and stewardship department of the Anglican Church, will preach the sermon.

Dr. King has served St. John's Church as a deacon for the past year.
